Port Phillip - A well-known old vagabond named Jordan resident in Williamstown had been taken into custody for the attempted murder of a cooper named Sloane. It appears that Jordan had had what is termed Colonice adown upon Sloane and on Monday night last waylaid him as he was about to enter Williamstown and springing from behind a tree with an open knife, struck the blade into his temple severing the temporal artery; he got the man down and was endeavouring to work the knife into the skull when his victims cries attracted the police who caught the old ruffian in the act of committing this brutal outrage. Sloane was insensible by the time Jordan was removed and is now lying dangerously ill. What makes the charge a more than ordinarily aggravated one is that Jordan but a short term previously had Sloane bound over to keep the peace. This has been an old grudge of this vagabond and we trust that in a superior court he will receive that punishment which such as "un-English offence" (as Judge Willis was wont to christen all "knife"affrays) richly deserves -

Remanded till this day (Tuesday)

Patrick Sloan was charged with stealing a case containing white lead from the premises of Mr Hall, Leigh Street.

Police Sergeant Reid took the prisoner in charge in consequence of information received of his having offered a case of white lead for sale at Mr Raphaels.

- On asking the prisoner where he got it he denied all knowledge of it. Prisoner was drunk at the time. Received his information from Mr Raphael who at first thought it was one of his own but after a little enquiry found it belong to Mr Hall.

Henry Jamieson dealer Hindley street said the prisoner came to his shop about 7 o'clock on Friday evening and asked for the loan of a few shillings on a case of white lead. Prisoner said he had a dray loaded with wool coming into Town but not having any money to get lodgings he should feel obliged if he could let him have it. Lent him 3s on it for which he signed a receipt. On Saturday morning the police came to enquire about the white lead and finding it had been dishonestly come by he delivered it up.

Mr S R Hall said he knew the prisoner but he was not in his employ. Witness was short of one keg of white lead in a lot received only a day or two before. The keg produced was one belonging to him marked J S & Co for J Stilling & Co., weighing 14 lbs. The original lot was fifty kegs. Witness had sold five, but six were gone. They were placed close to the door. A person passing by might easily have taken one. He had not however missed it till Saturday but it might have been taken on Friday, not being in the habit of counting them very frequently.

By the prisoner - Was not prepared to say that the keg produced was not one of the five he had sold but could find that out in a day or two.

Their Worships dealt with the case summarily and sentences the prisoner to one month's imprisonment.

I wonder why Jess / Jessie recorded herself as a spinster and not widow perhaps it was an error by the Minister or perhaps she may have been deserted by her first husband Patrick. Scottish women often retained their maiden names on documents.

When Jessie married her children Janet was age 12, Peter was aged 8 years and Alexander aged 3 years. Later both Peter and Alexander took the surname of their stepfather Neil BELL but Peter used his mother’s maiden name as a middle name. Janet retained the surname of SLOAN.

Jessie, Neil and their family were settled in Nelson New Zealand by December 1854.

On 23 January 1855 five people died when an earthquake estimated to measure 8.1 shook both islands and was felt on ships more than 200 km of the coast. It was one of NZ's worst earthquakes and caused faulting and uplifting of the land. There were many aftershocks. Brick buildings were destroyed in Wellington and the Wairarapa area and the roads leading out of Wellington were blocked. The earthquake was felt in Nelson.

Family story relays that Jessie was so frightened by the January 1855 earthquake that the family decided to move to Dunedin.

Jessie and Neil had a son Angus BELL who was born 1860 Dunedin Otago New Zealand. His birth was registered as Angus Simpson BELL and Angus Siminson BELL. Angus later used the middle initial of "J" for his Christian name so I believe the middle name was miss heard then misss pelt and should have read Angus Jamieson BELL.

Information located at Alexander Turnbull Library Wellington New Zealand records a letter in which a descendant Mrs LUMPP states a family story

Elizabeth JAMIESON a widow from Stirling Scotland arrived in Nelson with two small boys Peter and Alex. After an earthquake frightened Elizabeth she moved to Dunedin where she worked as a midwife. Elizabeth married a man named BELL. Elizabeth and Mr BELL had three children later the family immigrated to Canada.

Family stories always some element of truth but not all was correct and it is only by researching that we piece together the true family story. A full copy of this 1982 letter is located at the end of this document. Elizabeth was actually Jessie who did come from Stirling Scotland but she married Mr BELL in Australia not New Zealand. Jessie arrived in Nelson with her husband Neil, their 2 daughters as well as Peter and Alex who were the 2 sons from Jessie's 1st marriage in Stirling Scotland to Patrick SLOAN. Yes there was an earthquake felt in Nelson so the family did move to Dunedin and later immigrating to Canada.

The BELL family made a decision to move to Canada but why they moved no one can say. Gold miners from Australia and America were arriving in Dunedin on their way to the Otago Goldfields. Perhaps the Miners told Jessie and Neil about land opening up in the Cowichan district on Vancouver Island in Canada.

Neil and Jess BELL and family made the long sea voyage to Canada. Jessie was age 44, with an invalid husband and five children the oldest 10 years and the youngest a baby. On the Canadian 1901 census their three sons Hugh, John and Angus recorded that they immigrated to Canada between 1862 –1863.

The date the BELL family arrived in Canada was about August 1862 even though Neil BELL was still recorded on the 1866 -1867 Otago Nominal Roll in New Zealand.

Jessie's two sons now known as Peter Jamieson BELL and Alexander BELL both remained in New Zealand. Peter served in the New Zealand Wars and married 1871 New Zealand and his brother Alexander BELL married 1869 in New Zealand.

The Bell family left NZ travelled to USA then to Canada. From Victoria Canada they made the voyage to Cowichan on the "Hecate" in August 1862. The whole family was taken up the creek in canoes by the Indians to Somenos where their first log cabin was built. It had an earth floor, no windows, and an open fire construction of clay and rock and pine bough beds.

BELL – Neil Bell settled in Cowichan with his wife and family in 1862. They arrived by steamer at Cowichan Bay and were then taken up to Somenos Lake by Indians in canoes. In the years that followed Mrs Bell acted as the district midwife and when occasion demanded went on foot to Askews at Chemainus or Chisholms at Maple Bay and home again. Her son Angus said later "I think I can truthfully say my mother was the first white woman that walked the trails to Victoria. She would get an Indian to take her from Cowichan Bay to Saanich and then she would proceed on foot to Victoria. As her husband was an invalid she did all the business for the family.

(Reference publication The War Land by E Blanche Norcross page 116)

On August 15, 1862 the Colonist newspaper of Victoria carried the official announcement, which had been eagerly awaited. Her Majesty's ship Hecate it said would convey prospective Cowichan settlers. The expedition would start from Victoria harbour on August 18 at 7.00 a.m. and would also tow a sloop for carrying any provisions and implements the passengers might wish to take. Everyone planning to join the expedition was expected to meet at the Land Office at which time they would sign a memorandum and the men would be assigned to one of three parties which would proceed each with a guide to Shawnigan, Quamichan or Somenos. The guides one being the Surveyor General himself and another his assistant were men qualified to locate the survey stakes for each settler.

There is no official mention of any women on the Hecate accompanying their husbands.

A number of these men had taken part in the California, New Zealand, Australia, Fraser River and Cariboo gold rushes. Disillusioned they now were seeking land.

(Reference Publication Memories Never Last – Stories of the Pioneer women of the Cowichan Valley and a brief History of the Valley 1850-1920 compiled by the Pioneer Researchers)

In the early years Jess according to her son Angus BELL "used to get an Indian to take her over to Saanich from Cowichan Bay, then from there she footed it to Victoria. This was the only means of getting to town in those days. For several years there were no roads and no boats running from Cowichan. My mother used to go to Victoria once every year to get enough supplies to last the family for twelve months and bring them back by Saanich across Cowichan Bay by canoe and so up Alexander's creek to Somenos Lake. As my father was an invalid, my mother transacted all the business for him. When the road was built to Maple Bay and the steamboat started running we considered it a great convenience". She was the first white woman to walk the trail. As she had qualified in midwifery in Scotland she would also act as district nurse and midwife. She would never fail her friends. Thos might involve a walk to Chemainus and back fully 24 miles and on her return milk the cows and churn the butter. She was one of the district's best butter makers.

The younger daughter Jessie BELL became the second wife of James KEIR. Moved to Detroit U.S.A. and died there.

All of these children went to the first School opened in the District in the Old Log Church on the West Side of Somenos Lake off the Norcross Road. Taught by Wm LOMAS. They also attended the Maple Bay School when it opened with Cleminston as Teacher. They walked from Somenos.

The BELLS located in Somenos where Mr James SMITH now resides. R V Section 5. Somenos then a wilderness without any buildings thereon. The first building was a small log cabin, which stood for many years a little right of the present house. There they started to build their home and what hardships she and family had to meet. I don't for a moment think there was any place except the earth in. Very probably no window an open fire place built of clay and rock and chimney constructed of clay and wooden slats well plastered on the inner so it would not take fire, and I can picture the Bedstead of pine poles and the bed itself of Pine boughs "not at all bad to lay on".

Cooking outfit would be an Iron Tea Kettle a couple of Iron Pots an Iron Camp Oven to bake bread made from sour dough and not forgetting the frying pan, and a tin tea pot, tin dishes, knives and forks and a few spoons. Living potatoes would be on table nearly three times a day. Meat principally Pork 'salt' and Bacon plenty of Venison and Grouse. Not much cake or pies but good plain food with a good appetite. But the Pioneer Women did not confine themselves to housework they went outside helping their men to clear the land rolling up logs into piles and general work. When they got a few cows milking and making butter the work fell to this lot, also churning the butter and printing or moulding in rolls to send it to market.

Mrs Bell was one of the Best Butter makers in the District and could always sell her butter.

When Mrs Bell came here there were no Stores near than Victoria and no way of getting to Victoria except by Canoe. Steamers did not ply up and down the coast for several years later and then only once a week. There were not any roads in those days' only trails, "Mostly Indian Trails". The first roads were simply tracks cut the width of a sleigh, small trees cut down level with the road. Larger trees they went around. If you turn to the old minutes of the North Cowichan Council the second year after its incorporation you will find specification for road improvement near Chemainus. Logs to be cut to a width of 10 feet small trees the same; road to be graded 6 feet wide; what would it have been before the improvement.

When Mrs BELL came here there were no Doctors or --- Dr David -- used to ride up over the old Sooke Trail for weekend to see his boys who had located near Mrs BELL, so if there was any sickness we all had to call upon Mrs BELL -- she was a licensed Midwife before coming to B.C. and with the increased numbers of Married Couples living in the District, her services were more in demand and she never failed her friends. We wonder at her endurance in the journeys she took to visit women under her care. She would walk to Chemainus and back to look after Mrs Geo ASKEW at the mill, by the road fully 24 miles, or she should be the same to Mrs Wm CHISHOM of Maple Bay. All in a day's work. Looking back we cannot realise what she went through. B.C. owe a great debt to our Pioneer Women.

Mrs BELL was in bed for quite a while before her death at the age of 82 and would not have a woman to wait on her. Angus BELL her youngest, the only one at home nursed her through it all with every care and love. I feel like lifting my hat to him in memory of his act -- of love and duty to a noble woman.

She was buried alongside her life's partner in the United Church Yards Cemetery Somenos. I visited it yesterday with the expectation I would find the date of her Birth and Death on the Tombstone erected to the memory of Neil BELL and his \\ wife. To late the lettering thereon had disappeared all a blank and how few of the \\ residents to day of the District have even heard of her, who during her life filled so \\ an important a place in the wellbeing of the District. \\ John A EVANS

After the death of Janet's husband John their oldest son John Hereander WILSON wrote to his uncles in New Zealand enquiring about his mother Janet WILSON formerly SLOAN/ SLOWAN /SLOANE. Below is a transcript of the letters.

Bambra To Mr Alex or Peter Bell	July 30th 1884
Dear Uncle
Having been trying to find this eight years to write to you concerning my Mother who left us about September 1876.
Having heard that Uncle Alex was in Geelong some time ago I made enquiries and heard that he was on board the S.S. Tarramong trading between Sydney and Melbourne.
I ascertained when She was due and went down to Melbourne and enquired from the Officers on board to hear that he had left two months ago.
My father with an accident causing his death three weeks ago so if you know anything of Mother wire or write at once.
I will let you know all particulars if this finds you.
I would like very much to see either of my uncles in person if possible. I would be most happy to meet you in Melbourne or Geelong if you could let me know.
From Your Nephew John Alexander WILSON Deans Marsh Post Office Bambra, Near Birregurra, Victoria Australia

Bambra Dear Uncle	September 4th 1884
It is with great pleasure that I take up my pen to write you a few lines in answer to your note which I received last Thursday and was indeed very glad to hear from you.
Dear uncle you want me to tell you all about my mother. I will tell you all I know that is very little as I was 300 miles from home in New South Wales at the time.
Mother left our home, father and Family in September 1875. She took with her my youngest Brother the baby about twelve months old. And leaving a family of eight of us. Three Boys and five Girls of which the oldest 28 years. I will just give you the ages as they come, John Hereander 28; Annie Maria married E MORRE 25; Emily Elizabeth 23; Louisa 21; George Alfred 19; Christina Matilda 17; Robert Edward 15; Jessie 13. Those are the children left. My eldest sister is married.
The cause of mother's leaving I do not know. It has caused me many sleepless nights. Her and Father seemed to agree pretty well, the only thing that I know about was that she wanted to go to New Zealand to see you and Uncle Alex. And Father objected to it, said we could not afford the expense. He said why not her Brothers come and see her and us. But it seems she had made up her mind to go. Telling nobody except my second sister, Emily who was 14 years of age, told her she was going away for a long time and for her to stop with the Family until they were able to do for themselves and she told Emily that she would write

to her and Emily was to write to her. She also told her not to tell any of the rest of the Family anything about it, which she did not do until after Father's death.

#NZ Truth 07 November 1929 - Set Fire To Brother's House - (From N.Z. Truths Timaru Representative). In common with, most other, towns and cities in this Dominion, there flourishes in Fairlie, the capital of the Country, a branch, of the Ancient Order of Frothblowers. Among those who zealously quaffed their pints of nut brown ale was one Ernest Slow, formerly a prominent member of the order. Some time ago a prohibition order put a spoke in the wheel of membership. This naturally was bad enough, causing as it did an enforced abstinence, but it was nothing short of a disaster when Slow's brother successfully opposed an application, for cancellation of the order. To say the least, Slow, of the Frothblower fraternity, was somewhat peeved, so he simply revenged himself by setting fire to the house occupied by his brother. The consequence of his rash action resulted in his appearance in the Timaru Supreme Court the other day, where he pleaded guilty to a charge of arson. The whole trouble said counsel, was drink. Slow had cherished a grievance against his brother because the latter had opposed an application for cancellation of his prohibition order. His Honor remarked that the accused should be separated from the temptations that had proved his downfall. Alexander SLOAN / SLOWAN / SLOANE later known as Alexander BELL was born between 1843 - 1845 Adelaide Australia. His parents were Jessie JAMIESON and Patrick SLOAN / SLOWAN / SLOANE both born in Scotland.

Alexander's parents arrived in Australia in 1838 along with his older sister Janet. He also had an older brother Peter who was born 1841 in South Australia. After Alexander was born he had a younger brother William was born in 1846 and died the same year in Adelaide South Australia.

Alexander along with his mother and siblings left Adelaide South Australia and by 1949 were settled in Geelong Victoria Australia.

Alexander JAMIESON was 3 years old when his mother Jessie JAMIESON married Neil BELL. After the marriage Alexander became known as Alexander BELL

The BELL family left Melbourne Australia on 15 December 1854 as steerage passengers on the "Marchioness". Port of arrival in New Zealand was Nelson/Wellington. The Country they came from was recorded as United Kingdom and other details are:

Alexander and his family settled in Nelson. The following month there was a big earthquake. Six months after the quake the family left Nelson and settled in Dunedin Otago. The family settled approximately 6 kms from Dunedin City on the Otago Peninsular Upper Harbour East side on a property called "The Hermitage". While living in Otago three more siblings were added to Alexander family. Hugh BELL was born 1856, John BELL born 1858 and Angus Jamieson BELL born 1860.

Alexander's mother, step-father, 2 sisters and 3 brother left New Zealand and settled in the Cowichan district on Vancouver Island Canada around 1862. Alexander BELL and his brother Peter Jamieson BELL both remained in New Zealand.

The family story handed down stated that Alexander served in the New Zealand Wars but only Peter his older brother served. I searched and could not locate any information to confirm that Alexander had served.

There was another man with the same name but his details did not match our Alexander BELL. The details are recorded below.

But did not remember what took place on the night of the 22nd of August, as at the races during that day he had partaken too freely and was very much the worse for liquor. In fact he was so drunk that he was haunted by an idea that he had seen a policeman and thought he had been locked up. Shooting with intent to murder

Alexander BELL stood charged with that on the 7th day of March last he did shoot at James Elworth KINGSLEY, with intent to murder him.

The prisoner pleaded Not Guilty.

Mr Hamersley defended the prisoner.

The case was tried by the same jury sworn in the previous case.

Daniel West: I am an architect in Timaru. I know the billiard-room of the Clarendon Hotel. The plan produced is a correct plan of it. Mr Voak and Mr Lee were with me when I took the plan.

James Elworth Kingsley: I am a chiropodist and herbalist. On the night of the 7th of March last. I was in the Clarendon Hotel. I was in the bar parlour when the prisoner came in. I did not know him before. He asked me to have a drink, and I said "No thank you". No more occurred and I went into the billiard-room. I remained in the billiard-room for about twenty minutes when the prisoner came in and said "Your are the man who was too proud to have a drink with me". I answered that I did not care about it. He said, "I don't see why you should not have a drink with me." And I said I suppose a person is allowed to choose his own company. He said, "If I had not come out of the Hospital I'd dress you down." I have no friend her but I will go and get some". Voak and Bright were present. I said you can go and get forty friends, if you like. He then went out and after about twenty minutes or half-an-hour returned again. I think I opened the door for him. He made some remark but I don't remember what it was. I walked up to the further end of the room and the prisoner followed me I don't remember what was spoken until I heard an explosion five or six minutes after he came in.
No one was playing billiards. I was standing at the corner of the table near the door leading into the dining room. The prisoner was standing at the same side of the table. He was facing me. I was about seven or eight feet away from him.
Bright stood between myself and the prisoner but he left that place and in two or three seconds after I heard the report of a pistol and felt a concussion of the air near my ear, I saw something in his hand and said to him "did you mean that for me". He said, "Yes I did". I said, "You deserve to be taken care of." I then went out of the back door, and when I returned the prisoner was gone. The prisoner was not drunk but had evidently been drinking.

Cross-examined by Mr Hammersley, I do not know how many were in the room when he asked me to drink. He appeared not to like me refusing, he had evidently been drinking. I do not remember that I spoke to him when I opened the door for him. I cannot say exactly what he said when he came into the billiard-room.

Joseph Charles Voat; I am the lessee of the Clarendon billiard room. On the night of the 7th of March last the last witness came into the room and the prisoner came in some time after. William Bright was also there. When the prisoner came in he went up to Kingsley and said "you are the man who would not have a drink with me. Kingsley said he suppose he could choose his own company.
The prisoner said if he were not an invalid with one arm he would give him a dressing down. Kingsley told him that he did not want to have a quarrel with him and that he had better go home. The prisoner said he had no friend but would go and get one. He then went away and sometime after a knock came on the door and Kingsley opened it. The prisoner came in and said, "You are the man who wanted to pick a quarrel with me." Kingsley said he was not but you have evidently returned to pick a quarrel with me. The prisoner said I had but one arm when I went away but now I have one worth two. Kingsley said "I don't care if you have forty: Bright was standing between the prisoner and Kingsley who were between eight and nine feet apart. Bright removed from between the two and I heard the report of a firearm discharged from the direction in which the prisoner stood. The light in the billiard room were turned out with the exception of one. After the report Kingsley walked towards the prisoner and said, "I suppose that was meant for me. The prisoner said, "Yes." Kingsley said something to the effect that he ought to be taken care of. The prisoner seemed excited and his conversation was about Kingsley conduct. Bright and Kingsley then went out and when they returned we examined the wall and roof and found a bullet mark in the roof about two feet from the top of the uprights. The bullet mark was behind where Kingsley had been standing. A straight line drawn from the place where the prisoner's hand was when the report was heard to the bullet mark would pass near where Kingsley was standing. Next day I examined the place with Detective Neil and found a bullet inside the paper a few feet from the ground as if it had fallen down inside the paper. Detective Neil examined the boarding inside the bullet mark. The prisoner lived about 60 yards from the billiard room.

Cross-examined by Mr Hamersley. The prisoner had just come out of the Hospital and was in a weak state. He looked as if he had delirium tremens. It was after the prisoner came back the second time that Kingsley spoke about the "forty" and not before. The prisoner passed quite close to Kingsley and did not try to do anything. I was sitting three or four feet from Kingsley when I heard the report of a firearm but did not hear the whistle of the bullet.

William Bright I am a printer living in Timaru. On the night in question I was in the billiard room of the Clarendon Hotel with Kingsley and Voak. The prisoner came in and said to Kingsley "You are the man who was too proud to drink with me." Kingsley replied, "I suppose I can drink with who I like, I do not care for any more drink tonight." They had a few more words and Bell said he had no friends there but had some in Timaru and would go and get one. Kingsley said nothing and Bell went out. He returned afterwards by the back door, which Kingsley opened for him. The prisoner said when he came in, "I have a better arm now than when I went away." He was then standing with his left arm on the billiard table and his right arm in his trouser pocket. I heard a noise, which I took for the click of a trigger in the prisoner's pocket. In consequence of that I went up to Kingsley and spoke to him and passed by him. In one minute afterwards I heard a report and I saw smoke issuing from some instrument the prisoner had in his hand. He had bought the instrument out of his pocket. Kingsley asked the prisoner was that intended for me and the prisoner said, "It was". When I saw the instrument in his hand it was pointed in the direction of Kingsley.

Cross-examined by Mr Hamersley: When I heard the report I was about six feet from Kingsley. The prisoner appeared excited. I was about the full length of the room away when the prisoner came in.

John Neil: I am a detective of police stationed at Timaru. On the morning of the 8th of March last I arrested the prisoner in his own house on the charge of shooting Kingsley. He said, "It went off in my pocket." Look at the pocket of that coat and you will see a hole in it. I examined the coat produced and there was no hole in any of the pockets. I took the revolver produced out of a drawer in his bedroom. It is a fire chambers revolver/ Three of the chambers are still loaded, one I can't tell whether it is loaded or not one with part of a cartridge in it and one empty. I examined the billiard room in the Clarendon Hotel and found the ball produced. The ball was not found exactly underneath the bullet mark but the ball might have struck where the bullet mark was rebounded and fallen down to where I found it. I compared the ball with the bullet mark in the roof and I think such a ball might have made such a hole. I have not tried whether the ball produced will fit the barrel of the revolver. The witness was then instructed by the Court to examine the revolver and find out whether the ball fitted it. The result was that the ball found in the wall of the billiard room was much smaller than the balls, which were extracted in the Court from the revolver, and was altogether a different kind of ball. The witness in answer to the Court said he would not undertake to swear that the ball produced could have been the one, which the prisoner had fired at Kingsley.

Cross examined by Mr Hamesley: I could not discern any mark on the wall inside the bullet mark. The ball produced has evidently been in a cartridge but there is nothing to show that it had been discharged. I tried the wall to see if I could get another bullet but did not find one. I saw the prisoner during the previous days and notice that he was drinking to excess. I have known since I came to this town. He is very excitable and violent when under the influence of drink and would while in that state strike anybody. Otherwise he is an unoffending man.

This concluded the evidence for the prosecution.

Mr Hamersley then proceeded to open the case for the defence intimating that he would call witnesses to prove the prisoner was in a state of insanity from drink at the time the offence was alleged to have been committed.

His Honor said he could not allow evidence of that nature to be called. Men who had bought themselves voluntarily by excessive drinking to a temporary state of insanity could not be held irresponsible for their actions. It was only in cases of habitual and fixed insanity that the plea of irresponsibility could be raised. The question of the sanity of the prisoner could not be allowed to influence the verdict of the jury as to whether the prisoner was guilty or not guilty.

After some further discussion in reply to the Court the Crown Prosecutor agreed to withdraw the charge of "shooting with intent to murder", and make it one of "shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm," and Mr Hamersley continued his address. He dwelt strongly on the fact of the three witnesses finding a bullet mark in the roof and did not find the bullet until the next day. The bullet was found in an extraordinary way and in an extraordinary place and there was not sufficient room for the jury to believe that that was the ball, which had been fired from the revolver produced in Court. There was no evidence to show that the prisoner had had any intention of shooting with intent to do bodily harm. When Kingsley opened the door for him he did not make any attempt at shooting him and again when Kingsley turned his back to him and walked out of the room he did not then show any disposition to shoot him. He would ask them was that the way a man who had come determined as the prisoner was alleged to have come to murder or do bodily harm would act. He also pointed out some discrepancy in the evidence and urged upon the jury that if there was any doubt on their minds as to whether the prisoner fired with intent to do bodily harm to give him the benefit of it.

His Honor then asked the Crown Prosecutor did he except to obtain a conviction, as the charge in the indictment that the prisoner did shoot at him with a leaden bullet had not been sustained by the evidence. He thought that if the prosecutor had made a little more inquiry as regards the evidence relating to the ball found in the wall, so much reliance would not have been placed on it.

The Crown Prosecutor submitted that there was sufficient that the revolver had been fired by the prisoner and that that was enough to obtain a conviction.

After some further argument His Honor proceeded to charge the jury and in the course of his address said that the real question was did the prisoner shoot at Kingsley with intent to do him bodily harm. The evidence that explosion of some sort of a fire arm had been heard in the direction in which the prisoner was standing and if they could believe that the prisoner shot with intent to do Kingsley harm they should return a verdict of guilty. If on the contrary they should return a verdict of "not guilty" The language used by the prisoner was very important to show the intention of the prisoner. He had offered Kingsley who was a stranger to him drink and chose to be offended because he refused it. It arose out of the villainous and abominable habit of "shouting" which was in vogue in the colony.

He had often remarked in going through the country that men take offence at other men refusing to take drink from them. He regarded that as perfect tyranny and did not see why a man should choose to get offended with a man who believing that drink was not good for him refused to accept it. With regard to that part of the evidence, which related to the bullet he would ask them to regard it as a mere concoction and take no notice of it. It was true that the evidence of the most skilful detective sometimes broke when a little more care might have got them over the difficulty. That part of the case had completely broken down and the case was free from any embarrassment as regarded the bullet found in the wall. There was no evidence of the prisoner's insanity and he would ask them not to take cognisance of it. The jury then retired and after an absence of about half an hour returned with the following verdict: - "Guilty of discharging some sort of firearm in the direction of the prosecutor but there is no evidence to show that it was loaded with leaden bullets."

His Honor said he could not accept that verdict. It was necessary that they should find whether the prisoner had or had not shot at the prosecutor.

The jury retired a second time to consider this point and after another short absence returned with the following verdict: - "That the prisoner is guilty of firing some sort of firearm at the prosecutor with intent to do him grievous bodily harm but there is no evidence to show that the firearm was loaded with a leaded bullet."

His Honor said that this verdict virtually stated the indictment to be nature as the latter charged the prisoner with using a leaden bullet.

A long discussion then took place between counsel on both sides and his Honor. Mr White arguing that he had no option but to make reference to the bullet in the indictment as he could not have left it out after the strong evidence of the detective and other witnesses.

His Honor said it was really a question for consideration whether he should not direct the jury to return a verdict of Not Guilty. As the point was a very fine one however he would reserve it for this Court of Appeal to decide. Bail would be allowed the prisoner if he could obtain it and he would have to surrender to it immediately after the next sitting of the Court of Appeal.

Regina V Alexander Bell

Crown case reserved from Timaru Circuit sitting.

The Attorney General in support of the conviction.

The case as stated by the learned Judge (Mr Justice Johnston) was as follows:-
At the sitting of a Circuit of the Supreme Court held at Timaru on 13 June 1878 Alexander Bell was tried before me upon an indictment which charged in the last count (which was the only upon which the prosecution asked for a verdict) that the prisoner on &c a certain revolver then loaded with gunpowder and divers leaden bullets at and against the said J E Kingsley feloniously unlawfully and maliciously did shoot with intent in so doing to the said J E Kingsley to do some grievous bodily harm &c. It was proved on the part of the prosecution that the prisoner and Kingsley the prosecutor met in an hotel and the latter refuses to drink with the former. Afterwards the prisoner came into the billiard-room attached to the hotel and spoke in a quarrelsome and threatening manner to the prosecutor. He then went out of the house and shortly afterwards returned to the billiard-room and when a person present who had been before standing between the prisoner and the prosecutor moved away the prisoner was seen to have something in his right hand by his side from which an explosion was heard and smoke seem to issue and the prosecutor felt a concussion of air near his ear as if a body was passing it swiftly. There was found behind where the prosecutor stood in the sloping roof of the billiard-room a small hole and a small metal pellet was afterwards found on a ledge of the skirting board in a gap but not immediately in a line with the hold in the roof. When the prisoner was apprehended there was found in his bedroom a five barrelled revolver with three barrels loaded one empty and one with part of a cartridge in it. It seemed to be suggested by the prosecution that the pellet found in the room had been fired out of the barrel of this pistol and had made a hole in the roof and rebounded to the place where it was found but the pellet in question did not look as if had been discharged and a detective officer on examining the weapon in Court found the three barrels were loaded with conical bullets of considerably larger diameter than the pellet. I told the jury that they were not bound by the theory for the prosecution and might find the prisoner guilty even if they were not satisfied that the shot found was the one fired or that the pistol produced was the weapon which had been used. Discussion arose on the question whether upon the indictment as it stood it was necessary to prove the instrument used as laid and that it was loaded And I asked the jury if they found the prisoner guilty to say whether the instrument was proved as laid. The jury retired and after being absent some time they tendered their verdict "Guilty of discharging some sort of firearm in the direction of the prosecutor but that there was not evidence to show that it was loaded with leaden bullets". I asked the jury whether they were satisfied that the prisoner shot at the prosecutor. They retired again and after twenty minutes returned and gave as their verdict – "Guilty of shooting at the prosecutor with some sort of firearm with intent to do him grievous bodily harm and it was not proved to have been loaded with leader bullets". I reserved the question whether this amounted to a general verdict of guilty and whether the conviction can be supported.

The Attorney General: The question arose whether in shooting with intent it is necessary to prove on indictment the instrument used in the perpetration of the offence. I submit the verdict of the jury must be taken to mean this that prisoner discharged a loaded firearm but that they did not know what was the precise firearm or the material with which it was loaded and that finding is sufficient. The averment in the indictment describing the firearm as being a revolver is surplus age and the fact of the indictment having been more specific will not vitiate it if the prosecution do not happen to prove what after all is mere surplus age. King v Kitchen, R and R 94. In Queen v Oxford 9c and P25 the prisoner was charged with having shot at her Majesty with a pistol loaded with a certain bullet and it was put to the jury that all they had to consider was whether there was more than powder and wad in the pistol. There is also King v Martin 5 C, and P 128; King v Coates, 6C and P394.

Mr Justice Johnston; The difficulty is that you limit the firearm to a revolver which the jury did not find and specifically allege that leaden bullets were used which the jury did not find.

The Attorney-General" There is another case Regina v Baker but it is no stronger than those cited. If the jury had found the firearm was not loaded they would have acquitted the prisoner. I submit they found enough to support the indictment.

Mr Justice Johnson: Whatsoever the result of this case may be I must say I think that the gentleman who take charge of prosecutions are exceeding careless in most districts. They constantly make allegations more specific than the law requires and thereby endanger their cases.

The conviction was sustained on the grounds that the word "revolver" was immaterial in the indictment.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Alexander Bell found guilty at the last sitting of the Supreme Court of shooting with intent to kill was brought up for sentence the conviction having been upheld by the Court of Appeal.

Inspector Pender said he had known the prisoner for about five years during the greater part of which time he had been keeping a billiard table. He was known as a man of violet temper. He had once been charged with rape.

Mr Hamersley the prisoner's solicitor said he had a medical man in attendance who believed Bell's mental state was not what it ought to be.

His Honor said this should have been stated when the prisoner was on trail not now.

In reply to His Honor the gaoler stated the prisoner had been in goal for nine months.

His Honor said he would take this into consideration. Then addressing the prisoner he animadverted strongly on the serious nature of the crime he had committed. It was only by God's mercy that he had not killed the prosecutor and he ought to be really thankful to Providence that he was not now charged with murder. In consideration of his having already been in goal for nine months he would sentence him to three years penal servitude.

Failing to Support

Alexander BELL was charged with failing to support his wife and family.

Mrs Bell gave evidence to the effect that her husband had been living away from her for some time and that he had only given her, the sum of £6 since last May. He had not written to her and her family – three boys, the eldest of who was six years of age = were left destitute.

In answer to the Bench, complainant said previous information had been laid to the same effect in May last, but she had withdrawn it as her husband had agreed to give her £1 per week. This he had not done however and she was compelled to bring the present proceedings.

Defendant made a statement in explanation of his conduct.

His Worship said the case was a very sad one and it was evident that defendant did not care a button about his wife and family. He had left his wife and children completely at the mercy of the world not caring what became of them and when an information had been laid against him he had compromised the matter by making an agreement with his wife which he broke almost immediately afterwards. He had been guilty of criminal neglect and an example would be made of him. There was by far too much of this sort of thing going on and in this case it was very evident that accused did not intend to support his family. The excuse he had made was a frivolous one and he had no right to enter into transactions, which took him away from his family as he had done. The case being such a bad one he should make an order for the payment of 20s per week to complainant and defendant would be imprisoned for three months with hard labour.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mr Fred Adolphus Slow at the age of 64 which took place at his residence near Fairlie on Friday after a prolonged illness. Mr Slow was a very old colonist coming out here in the year 1853 when he settled in the Nelson province afterwards in about 1872 he came to Canterbury and has resided in the Mackenzie Country for the last 25 years – well known throughout all the stations as being one of the best shearers in the district and much respected for his honest straightforward character. For many year he has resided in Fairlie where he leaves a widow and young family to mourn his loss

Somenos March 30th 1876

My dear brother Peter,

I have been expecting to hear from you for some time past, such I have delayed writing to you in consequence. But I have now come to the conclusion that you may never have received the last letter I wrote to you. For I am aware that letters will sometimes miss carry.

Mr dear brother I scarcely know how to break the sad news to you. I know how you loved our dear sister Tina and I feel sure that your grief will be very great when you hear that she died. Yes dear Peter our darling Tina is dead and is now happy in heaven with Jessie.

She died on the 06 October last after a fortnight severe illness. Of Gastric fever and inflammation of the lungs. The doctors said she had been consumptive for years. But we were not aware of that fact ourselves. Poor little darling. She suffered very much before she died. Mother and I were with her to the last. She spoke of you and Alex frequently. It is impossible for me to describe to you the grief we all felt at her death more especially the grief of her poor bereaved husband. For man ever loved someone as he did his own little wife and does now and will I believe until death.

Mr dear Peter nobody knows what grief has been for my dear sister was all the work to me she was my greatest comfort. And oh how I did love her. I thank God that I have had such a blessing so long for she was a dear good sister to me. Her poor dear little boy Bertie we have him staying with us and he is the joy and comfort of the whole house poor little fellow. He will never know the loss. He has grown to be very fond of me and I am sure I love him very dearly not only for his own sake but also for the sake of his sainted Mother. She was buried in Staple Bay Church years and few miles from our place. I rode down to see the darling grave a few days ago and oh dear Peter how the grief rushed to my heart and the tears to my eyes as I gazed on the grave where the body of my beloved sister lay. My dear brother should it be Gods will that you and I never meet in this world again, I trust that we will meet in Heaven. Where I am certain our dear Tina is. And Oh dear Peter may God help us to live a life here so as to fit us for a place in the mansion above. You must be sure and write to me as soon as possible for I cannot help feeling anxious on account of your silence. I feel vexed with myself for not writing to you before to inform you of poor Tina's death. I certainly would have done so only Mother said that she would write to you.

We are all quite well at present thank God. And I trust that you are all well also. Bertie's Papa is coming up to see him tomorrow. He is still teaching school in town and so he is not able to see his dear son very often,

My dear brother Peter I will bring my letter to a close. With love from all to my dear brothers and sister. May God bless and protect you and your family is the prayer of your loving and faithful sister

Jessie Bell

Give my love to Alex. Mother sends hers also

Somenos August 16th 1876

My dear brother,

I received your letter on the 31st of July and I can hardly tell you how glad I felt when I received it for I have been longing to hear from you so much. It was joyful news to all of us. I must thank you for sending me a likeness of your little boy. I judge from the photograph I think he is the prettiest boy I have ever seen with the exception of Bertie. Poor dear little Bertie. He is getting along very nicely. He is not very large for his age but he is very smart and intelligent. He has become to love me very much. And I am sure I love him very dearly. I don't know what I should do without him now. His Papa comes to see him as often as he possible can. He is very fond of his dear little boy he always was but I think he loves him more than ever now that he is motherless.

Dear Peter ever since Tina's death I have had a strong drive to see you and your wife and children. I think that I could love your wife truly as a sister. I do now although we have never met and most likely never shall in this world. But I trust dear Peter that we shall meet in Heaven. You have not told me your wife's name yet. Now dear Peter when you write to me again please tell me her name. I should be very glad to have a few lines from herself. Did you the letter that I sent you with brother Johnnie's likeness. When I write to you again I shall send you a likeness of poor dear little Tina. I know you will be very glad to have it. I feel sorry that I have not got one of myself yet to send you. We are all blest with very good health at present I am thankful to say

John and Angus are growing quite tall lads in fact will soon be young men for Johnnie is getting quite a moustache. We tease him so much about it that he sometimes gets quite cross at us. Hugh is as fond of hunting as ever and Angus as fond of fishing. Father never hinders them from any of their sports. I often tell them that they are well off to have such and indulgent Father he is always so good-natured and kind to us. Poor dear Daddie he is failing very fast I was sorry we did not get the letters your sent Mother. I think there is not sufficient postage payed on them to carry them right through because your last letter that I got there had to be five cents payed on it. That is 2 pence halfpenny so I think that there must be some slight mistake in the postage. I intend to send enclosed a few lines to Alex but I am afraid it would make my letter over weight So I shall have to content myself with simply sending him my very best love. Tell him we shall all be very glad to receive a letter from him. If he writes to me I shall be only too happy to answer it. Please write as soon as possible for we are always very glad to here from you. Mother says that she is going to write to you very soon. Will love from all at home. Kiss my little nephew for me and believe me to be your sincere and faithful sister Jessie Bell

Please how are times in your part of the world. Father would like to know. Here they are very dull at present. The prices of beef and butter are very low. The farmers moan considerable about it.

I hope you are doing well in your business.

From Canada in November 1908 Jessie's brother Angus J BELL wrote a letter to their brother Peter BELL in New Zealand. In this letter he wrote that he visited his sister Jessie on 24 May in Detroit. Angus's letter details that Mr Kier my brother in law bought a 20-acre fruit farm for his son as it is supposed to be a great place to cure consumptives. Fruita is only a small town about 5,000 feet above the sea. A copy of the letter is located in Angus's genealogy below.

Duncaus, B.C. November 02nd 1908

My Peter,

I promised to write to you when I got home ad describe my trip, well I write a letter to you in Melbourne, Australia, from Melbourne we called at Hobart, Tasmania and stayed there 4 days loading apples. Tasmania is a great fruit growing country and I think would be a very nice climate. After we left Tasmania we had lots of sports, balls and dances galore. I was one of the sports Committee and I won several prizes in the deck games the next place we landed at was Durban South Africa but we only stayed one day. Durban is a very pretty city. The darkies hail you around in the Ritchsha a kind of a two-wheeled cart. I had a ride just for curiosity. We next called at Capt Town another South African City and from there we went direct to England. We called at Plymouth and then at Tillbury and took the train for London the world's greatest city. We had a beautiful trip until we came to the English Channel and then it became cold and blusterous. Of course it was very hot crossing the tropics but then I don't much mind the heat. The officials on the boat said it was the hottest that they had ever known it. The weather in London was very cold in fact there was snow and rain nearly the whole time I was there. I stayed three weeks. London is a world in itself and a very wicked one too. I never saw such poverty and misery, as there is in the streets of London there are the two extremes. The spring flowers were just coming in bloom and the gardens and parks were beautiful. Hyde part comprises 692 acres and is beautifully laid out but I think Regent Park is the prettier of the two. I visited all the Principal places of interest such as Westminster Abbey, London Towers, Rotten Rows, Buckingham Palace, Hampton Court, Zoological Gardens, Madam Tousseux Waxworks, Natural History Museum, Kensington Gardens and many other places besides the principal theatres. London is a great place for theatre going they are crowded day and night the Hippodrome arguably the best and well worth going to see. If the weather had not been so cold I would have liked to have gone up to Edinburgh Exhibition in Scotland but there was a foot and a half of snow there so I did not feel like venturing. I left London on the May 13. Took train to Southampton and boarded the Majestic of the White Star Line for New York. We had a rough cold voyage coming over and arrived in New York in 6 days. New York is an immense city and for high buildings takes the cake, there is one building 48 storeys high and several over 40. Nevertheless it is a beautiful city and their natural parks beat London. I stayed three days in New York then took the train for Detroit where my sister lives. We arrived in Detroit on May 24th and found Jessie well and pleased to see me. Her husband was not at home; he had gone to Fruita, Colorado with his son Kenneth who has been ill. Detroit is a very pretty city and is considered one of the prettiest cities in United States and I think it well merits the name it is about the size of Sydney or Melbourne and for excursions beats Wellington. I stayed two months with my sister and while there I visited quite a number of the cities around including Niagara Falls which is well worth going to see.

Chicago is one of the largest cities in the United States though not such a large population it covers more ground and is level. The weather was beautiful while I was in Detroit there were a few Electrical storms with lots of thunder and lightning. I left Detroit on July 22 and took the train for Chicago and from there through the States of Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado. While going through Colorado I got a day off at Fruita where Mr Kier my brother in law is staying. He bought a 20-acre fruit farm for his son. Fruita is only a small town about 5,000 ft above the sea. The land is very dry and is all irrigated and they grow principally alfalfa and fruit. It is supposed to be a great place to cure consumptives but the day I was there it was awfully hot. Far hotter than I ever felt in Australia and New Zealand and very dusty. I do not think I would like to live there unless I was compelled to, from there I came in through Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Washington until I came to Danville where my brother John is Living. Danville is a mining town. John keeps a general store but as the times were rather dull he was not doing much of a business but as presidential election is now over and Mr Taft the Republican is elected, times will probably take up again. I stayed a month with John and had some hunting and shooting up in the mountains. After leaving there I came by way of Seattle to Victoria and from there up to Duncaus and am here. Since coming home I have had an attack of bronchitis. I am beginning to think that the climate here is no better than New Zealand but I expect it was the change from summer weather to cool weather all at once as I had three summers in succession. I am feeling a lot better now and I expect I may get used to it. I have built a small house in Duncaus and am now living in it. My other house is rented.

How are things in Timaru. Remember me to the boys. Write and let me know how you are all getting along

With best regards to Mrs Bell, Olive and yourself

Yours Brother

Angus J Bell

Cowichan Leader – January 30 1913 - Victoria Canada

TALKS WITH OLD TIMERS
(Including picture of Angus J BELL)

Among the old timers of Cowichan there were very few who reached this district before Mr Angus BELL, whose portrait appears at the head of this article. It is true that Mr Bell was but a small boy when he reached this part of the world but nevertheless he can claim to have lived in Cowichan over 50 years ago.

Mr Bell was born in Portobello Otago New Zealand in 1861. He came to the province of B.C. with his parents in 1862. On arrival at Cowichan Bay the family was conveyed to the shores of Somenos Lake by Indians in canoes, which of course was the only means of getting about in those days. There are but few remaining now of those who arrived here in before 1862. Among those still living in the district are Messrs Horace and William DAVIE, George KIER, David and James ALEXANDER, W.C. DUNCAN, Mrs W.A. LOMAS, Mr SUTTON, Mrs WILLIAMS and Mr SHEARING of Cobble Hill. The only families in the Somenos district in those early days were KIERS, ALEXANDERS, BELLS The SKINNERS of Maple Bay and the FRYS of Chemaninus. At dances it was unusual to see only two or three ladies present. There were quite a lot of bachelors however and of course everyone turned out to every show or entertainment that came along.

I think I can truly fully say that my mother was the first white woman that walked over the trail to Victoria, writes Mr BELL. : She used to get an Indian to take her over the Saanich from Coshichan Bay, and then from her she "footed it" to Victoria. This was the only means of getting to town on those days. For several years there were no roads and no boats running from Cowichan. My mother used to go to Victoria once every year to get enough supplies to last us for twelve months and bring them back by Saanich across Cowichan Bay by canoe and so up Alexander's Creek to Somenos Lake. As my father was an invalid, my mother transacted all the business for him. When the road was built to Maple Bay and the steamboat started running we considered it a great convenience.

In early days the winters were much more severe than is the case today. I remember Cowichan Bay used to be frozen every year. I well remember that one year while skating on Quamichan Lake the ice broke and I fell in and had a very narrow escape from drowning. It is well known that the lake is very treacherous. It will freeze solid in some places and in others there will be but a thin film as ice. That same winter Comenos Lake was frozen over 18 inches thick, so that you could drive a horse over it. The lake did not break up until the middle of April. But the winters were not always severe even in early days, for in one year, I think it was in 1877 there was not any snow at all. I well remember it for I was attending the high school in Victoria and we played baseball every Saturday all through the winter. Flowers were in bloom all through January and Easter Lilies were out in February.

I first went to school in a little log church on Somenos Lake, which stood close to where Mr FREEMAN's house is now. Mr W H LOMAS was our Teacher. He used to teach one week there and then next week at the Old Court House which stood below the present site of the Catholic Church at Quamichan. We used to cross Somenos Lake in a canoe and then walk nearly five miles to the school. This was a private school and parents paid to send their children there. The first public School was held in the old Methodist church at Maple Bay in 1872 and Mr R CLEMENTSON was the teacher. The following year a school was built where the Maple Bay School now stands. This was the only school, in the district for years. When the Municipality took over the schools for Somenos district, I was secretary for the school board for Somenos but did not for election in the municipal schools, as I was one of the Councillors at the time.

The first church in the district was the log church above referred to on what is now Mr FREEMAN'S place. Mr GARRETT was the first Minister. He used to preach in our log house before the church was built. The Municipality of North Cowichan was incorporated in 1873. I was elected in 1885 Clerk, Assessor and Collector of the municipality and for either years I held that position. The first year I was collector the total receipt for the municipality amounted to $1,000.00 and the government grant added another $1,000.00. There was statute labour in those days and every resident was supposed to work for two days in the year on the roads.

I remember that in 1885 when the railway was being constructed I was given orders to collect the road tax from the men on construction work. I went to Chemainus and asked the 3 paymasters, Mr RILEY (now Senator RILEY) to give me a list of the names of those employed in this work. This he refused to do point blank, in fact, he told me to go plumb to hell. I went to Mr WELLBURN instead and tried to get a summons out, but the Reeve thought it was doubtful if the tax could be collected, so the case was dropped.

When the railroad was built it was not the intention to have a station at Duncans' Crossing, and I believe, if Mr James KIER who owned the land had been willing to sell town lots the town would have been located in Somenos. But Mr KIER positively refused to sell lots. And therefore when Mr DUNCAN laid out lots in the town site of Alderlea, people bought lots there instead. Mr JAYNES says that there was no provision for stations at Somenos or Koksilah but I can assure him that there were stations at both these places. Mr James FLEET was the first agent to Somenos and Mr J CROXIER at Koksilah before there was any station at Duncan.

In 1904 I was elected a Councillor for Somenos ward and sat in the council until 1907 when I sold my farm at Somenos.

Years ago Mr Angus BELL was a great athlete, in fact one of the best all-round athletes in B.C. One Sunday he said, "I was riding to Chemainus with Mr G.A.B. HALL, now the city health doctor of Victoria and we came across a lot of Indians having races near the Chemainus River on the Truck Road. I suggested to Mr HALL that we should challenge the winner, an Indian named Amy (he still lives in Chemainus). They collected four dollars and we ran 80 yards. I beat him by about a yard. He immediately challenged me again next Sunday, so I told him if he would come down to Somenos I would run him. The next Sunday when I went over to the Church, I took my running shoes with me. When I got to the old post office, about one hundred Indians were waiting for me to run a hundred yards. They had all collected five dollars, so I ran again and this time I beat him by about five yards. I then went to church thinking it was all over, but when I came out, there was another hundred Indians gathered. They had sent to Klem Klemalitz doe an Indian named Johnny to run two hundred yards against me, uphill. They collected another five dollars and I ran him. As this was my best pace, I won easily. After this the Indians never wanted to race with me. The Indians were very sport minded and always had their races in Sunday afternoons.

I am trying to find out the dates my great grandparents arrived in Dunedin. Mr great grandmother was a widow named Jamieson from Stirling Scotland. We know she was a mid-wife with two small boys, Peter &amp; Alex. She used to row around the Bays in Dunedin, delivering babies. I think her Christian name was Elizabeth. 1) One story I heard was that they landed in Nelson first but were frightened by an earthquake &amp; moved to Dunedin. I doubt the story. We know she remarried a man named BELL had three more children before emigrating to Canada where she was the first woman to walk the trail from Cowiechar to Dunear's BC. 2) The other grandparents William &amp; Rebecca MURLEY arrived on the ship Sarah M, also in Dunedin, with a son, name unknown, another daughter name unknown, &amp; my grandmother Elizabeth age fifteen. William MURLEY &amp; the son were shipwrights they later moved to Timaru where they made lighters for immigrant ships. I have a Victorian letter writer inscribed E. Murley, Blackwall, Upper Harbour, Otago. The letter examples are dates 185-, I think it could be about 1856 as my grandmother was either 83 or 84 when she died in 1928 or 9. The Murley family came from London. Could you please advise me as whether the General Registry Office Kingsway London would have Rebecca MURLEY (nee OLIVE's) birth recorded she was born 13 may 1814. I seem to remember reading that Somerset house records only went back to 1830? I would like to know if possible whether East India Company records are kept also Naval records, as Rebecca MURLEY's father was a Captain in the East India Company &amp; was on the HMS Minotaur during the Battle of the Nile in 1798. A cousin has the medal struck to commemorate the event. My mother told me that her father was one of Von Tempsky's Rangers, he was wounded during the Maori Wars the bullet passed through his middle from front to back, could you tell me where I would find records of that, his name was Peter Jamieson BELL.

Hoping you will be able to advise me on these subjects,
Yours faithfully E.M.H. LUMPP.
