Wellington – This day - The La Hogue is just coming up harbour with 440 immigrants apparently all well. The Health Officer has not gone aboard yet.

Wellington Independent newspaper 27 May 1874

Arrival of the Immigrant Ship La Hogue - Before people had ceased to talk about the arrival of the Wellington, her long passage, and the prospects of her immigrants, we have had another immigrant vessel, of much larger size and carrying more immigrants, come to an anchor in the harbour before people had done congratulating themselves on an immigrant ship having at last come in without disease on board, another English vessel has brought a clean bill of health. That Wellington should have been fortunate enough to have two immigrant ships arriving on two consecutive days, each perfectly free from disease of any kind, is a fact which should prevent us for some time at least from complaining that there has been mismanagement in the matter of immigration. The arrival of the La Hogue was not unexpected, as she is 94 days out, and, therefore, may be said to have been due for some days still, coming so close on the Wellington, the signals were watched with unusual interest yesterday morning, and the announcement of her name, and the welcome news that all were well on board, were received with some gratification. Pilot I Holmes has had a heavy run upon his bodily powers with these two ships. It was with the greatest difficulty he could get on board the La Hogue, the seas breaking constantly over his boat, and threatening to upset it, but the La Hogue was brought up in fine style, the wind having turned just in time to allow her to come up the channel without a steaming, but not to admit of her anchoring close to the wharf. As she was lying out some distance, and the wind and sea wore rather high for even the adventurous boatmen, her agents, Messrs W. and G. Turnbull and Co., determined to utilise their steamer, the Storm-bird. Steam was accordingly got up, and about two o'clock the representatives of the firm, with the Health and Immigration Officers, went on board, and a start was made for the ship, the steamer being met with three hearty cheers as she rounded-to under the La Hogue's stern, and as the sight of the bountiful supply of fresh provisions which had been thoughtfully sent off met the eyes of the immigrants. On going on board it was found that there was no disease of any kind existing, though one poor woman was lying below in a very sickly state, to whom Dr Johnson immediately attended that there had been three deaths and six births during the voyage and that the people on board generally expressed satisfaction with the treatment they had received at the hands of Captain Carvosso and his officers, and with their accommodation and food. Altogether, things were in capital order as far as the immigrants were concerned. The ship herself is a very fine vessel, and is capitally suited for carrying immigrants. She is by no means a new vessel, and many will, no doubt, remember her as the Blackwall liner which used to trade between Sydney and London. She is Sunderland built, and was for some time one of the Dunbar fleet, when she performed many good and serviceable voyages. Frigate-built, and in many respects resembling the equipment of a man-of-war, she is very comfortable aft and a remarkable feature is the great size of her poop, which is nearly one hundred feet in length, and affords a most extensive promenade for her passengers. According to the usual division in these immigrant vessels, the single men wore forward, the married couples amidships, and the single women aft, where they had very comfortable quarters. The La Hogue comes into port in fair condition and in good order, and her general appearance is creditable to her captain and officers. Unfortunately, there is no possibility of her coming much nearer than she is at present for some days yet. The demand at the wharf for accommodation is so great that every inch of available space is taken up as soon as vacated and it would too seriously interfere with the Coastal and Melbourne steamers were a large ship allowed to take one of the end berths, which she would necessarily occupy for a considerable time. Consequently the La Hogue will be unable to come to the wharf until the McCallum Moro's berth is vacated, unless the Harbor-master make some special arrangement, for the City of Glasgow's old berth has not sufficient depth for a deeply laden vessel, and for the Wennington being made fast where the Newcastle barques generally lie. In addition to the inconvenience to which the ship is subjected, it seems that it will be necessary to keep her immigrants where they are for a week. Pressed for room with the Wennington's large crowd, the barracks at Mount Cook cannot by any exercise of ingenuity be made to receive any considerable portion of the La Hogue's complement, and it would be a very poor apology for landing were they to be put ashore, which is always their great ambition, at the Somes Island barracks, from which the stigma of quarantine can hardly be shaken off. There seems to be no help for it but to keep them aboard their floating home until proper provision can be made for their accommodation, notwithstanding the grumbling which is bound to ensue upon such a proceeding. The following is the report of the ship's voyage out, kindly supplied by the captain through his agents. The ship La Hogue, 1331 tons, Captain D. B. Carvosso, left Gravesend on the 20th of February, with 353 adult immigrants. The pilot left her off the Start after a fair run down Channel, on the 24th of February, but for the next five days she was detained by strong head winds in the chops of the Channel. The Line was crossed on the 23rd of March, and the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on the 13th ran the easting down between the latitudes of 47deg and 49deg, and had a bad average run of winds. On Sunday, the 24th of May, the ship was off the South Cape of New Zealand, and the sou-west gale then brought her fast up the coast. At 2 a.m. on Sunday morning she was off Dunedin, and consequently her run up to port from there has been extraordinarily rapid. The voyage has been therefore accomplished in little more than 93 days, a very good average run. Three deaths of children occurred during the voyage, from cramp and other infantile affections no contagious disease of any kind made its appearance, and the general health of the immigrants was excellent, owing in great measure to the skill and care of Dr W. Russell, under whose charge they were during the voyage. The following are the names of her cabin passengers Rev James Murphy, Rev John Murphy, Messrs Percy Scott, Gilbert Wilson, Wm. Alexander, A. H. Court, Darby, Turnbull, Jacobs, and Gibson. Her cargo consists of 400 tons railway iron, and about 1000 tons general cargo. It is interesting that of the two ships which are now lying in the harbor, the Wennington came by the Northern route, the La Hogue by the Southern. After discharging her cargo, the La Hogue will proceed in ballast to Sydney, and there load for London.

The Immigrants - Compared with the shipment by the Wennington, the immigrants by the La Hogue are about up to the same standard they seem healthy and able-bodied, able and willing to work hard in the new country that is open to them. There were in all on board when the ship left Gravesend 500 souls, equal to 353 statute adults, and it is a great thing that be large a number have arrived without harm of any kind having occurred amongst them. The following is the official approximate list of themselves and their professions Married couples without children 2 laborers, 1 wheelwright, 2 carpenters, 1 farm laborer, 1 fireman. Married couples with children 14 laborers, 2 farm laborers, 3 painters, 2 railway laborers, 1 tinsmith, 2 gardeners, 1 shepherd, 2 wheelwrights, 1 brickmaker, 1 ironmoulder, 1 carter, 4 blacksmiths, 9 carpenters, 1 warehouseman, 1 ostler. Single men 30 laborers, 5 lads, 1 stoker, 1 butcher, 2 bootmakers, 2 stonemasons, 2 engine cleaners, 1 bricklayer, 1 ploughman, 3 painters, 13 carpenters, 1 striker, 1 blacksmith, 6 farm laborers, 1 tinman, 2 wheelwrights, 1 fireman. Single women 10 general servants, 1 nurse, 1 laundress, 7 housemaids, 7 young girls. Applications to engage these immigrants are to be made to Mr Redward, Immigration Depot, Mount Cook. Any of the immigrants who are engaged for service in the country districts of the Province will be forwarded by the Immigration Department. The following is a list of the immigrants, as summarised from the full record in the European Mail" - There are 77 families, comprising 21 single females, and 23 single males over 12 years of age, and 157 children under 12 years 77 single men, and 21 single women. Taking the two sets of single men and single women, there are about 100 of the former, and 40 of the latter.

Edward Alexander FISHER arrived in Wellington but travelled to the South Island and settled in Matarua Southland arriving there around 1874 this is according to calculations from his 1880 intention to marry application.

Around 1875 the Matarua River was bridged and Matarua's paper mills began production. Matarua School was also opened in 1875. The railway line from Invercargill to Gore was opened in either 1875 or 1878 (I located 2 dates in 2 different publications). The first newspaper in Gore named "The Matarua Ensign" began publication in 1878.

Her suffering latterly over fearful the last month she lived I was up with her night & day never had my clothes off had to have a nurse the last 16 nights to watch with me. I got so tired out as I told you in my last letter she had failed very much the last 12 months but the last days of her life she was confined to her room you know how stout she used to be but she got too nothing but skin and bone you may judge what she got like for the last few weeks of her life. I carried her about in my arms from the bed to the chair. She was quite helpless her last month here you know Ted I am not over much strength. I have enclosed one of her cards. Do write sometime when you receive this but address to me thus, as we are leaving here in a week or so. Miss FISHER, Care of Rev I J Stone, St Pauls Vicarage, Dalstou London. Oh Ted you little know how I miss her there seems such a blank which nothing can fill and nursing of her so long made her terribly dear to me we were as much to each other she did cling to me so particular the last month she was unconscious for 16 hours before death but the last hour she came too she knew me and said O'Dear O'Dear after a little time she said to me lift me up which I did at 5 minutes before 11 in the morning of the 29th she said to me O'Dear in 5 minutes and as the clock struck 11 she breathed her last in my arms. We think as there is now only Papa & Hayley left we shall go to Folkestone/Fathestone (sic) to live it is to be settled next week. Papa is going tomorrow to look for a place. ### Margaret Isabella LESTRANGE / LUESTRANGE

Margaret Isabella LESTRANG was born circa between 1850 and 1853 in County Dublin Ireland. Margaret's surname was sometimes spelt LUESTRANGE.

There has been virtually no information recorded in New Zealand records to identify where Margaret was born or who her parents or siblings were. I do not know if the information in the box below belongs to Margaret LESTRANGE.

Irish Newspaper Archives Freemans Journal Monday 30 November 1863

Police Courts Head Office – Felony – Margaret Maria L'Estrange a servant was bought up in custody charged with having stolen three shawls, two silver spoons, one German silver tea pot and a sugar tongs the property of Mrs Sarah Isaacs 24 Lady's Lane Kilmainham with whom she had been living in the capacity of domestic servant. Remanded.

Police Intelligence – Yesterday Northern Division (before Mr C J O'Donel)

Obtaining goods under false pretence – Margaret Killeen alias L'Estrange was brought up in custody of detective officers Harbison and Gannon charged by them under the following circumstances. It appeared from the evidence that on the 3rd inst. The prisoner who is a domestic servant presented an order to the firm Todd Burns and Co. Mary Street for goods to the amount of £5 18s which she ordered to be sent to Mrs L'Estrange of 29 Blessington Street. The order bore the lady's signature and appeared so genuine that the porter drove in the evening with the parcels, which were received by the accused. The porter was told by her that her mistress waited until the last moment to pay him for the parcels, and at length had to go to Kingstown but was to return at seven o'clock in the evening. When the porter went away the accused took a cab and absconded from the house without the knowledge of her mistress. On the following day she went to the establishment of Mr Pemberton 24 Mary Street and obtained two pairs of boots to fit herself stating it was at the order of the Rev Mr Collins of Blessington

Street whose servant she represented herself to be. On yesterday the detectives succeeded in tracing the prisoner to 26 South Cumberland Street where they recovered the greater portion of the missing property. She was sent for trial to the City Sessions.

Margaret Isabelle LESTRANGE settled in Maitua Southland arriving there around 1878 this is according to calculations from her 1880 intention to marry application.

There was a Christopher LESTRANGE who arrived in Dunedin from Ireland around 1874 but I not been able to locate any information that show he is related to Margaret.

Margaret was a catholic so it was most unusual for her to be married by a Presbyterian minister. Perhaps it was because there was no Catholic church in the area. The Presbyterian Church was established in Maitua around 1874.

I contacted the Maitua Presbyterian church and the Presbyterian Archives in Dunedin. The earliest parish marriage records they hold for Maitua is 1903. It appears that the earlier parish marriage registers no longer exists and are lost forever.

The witnesses at the wedding were Hugh Cameron and James Stewart Shanks. Perhaps Hugh Cameron employed Margaret at the Cameron Hotel as cook. Perhaps James Stewart Shanks employed Edward as a clerk. This is only a theory and has to be researched further to confirm.

I have a photograph of the two story Cameron's Hotel, also known as the Maitua Hotel where Margaret and Edward were married in 1880. The Maitua Hotel was situated opposite the Railway Station.

The publication "MATAURA City of the Falls" edited by D. C. W. Muir records the history of Maitua in those early years when Edward and Margaret lived there. There is also a photo of the Cameron Hotel in the publication. Additional information about Maitua is located in page 123 of the publication "Going Abroad" by John MacGibbon.

*God saw he was getting tired
And a cure was not to be
So he put his arms around him
And whispered, "Come with me."*

*With tear-filled eyes we watched him
Suffer and fade away*

*Although we loved him dearly
We could not make him stay*

*A golden heart stopped beating
Hard-working hands put to rest
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best!*

Police Courts Head Office – Felony – Margaret Maria L'Estrange a servant was brought up in custody charged with having stolen three shawls, two silver spoons, one German silver tea pot and a sugar tongs the property of Mrs Sarah Isaacs 24 Lady's Lane Kilmainham with whom she had been living in the capacity of domestic servant. The Irish Times and Daily Advertiser newspaper Wednesday 09 March 1870

Police Intelligence – Yesterday Northern Division (before Mr C J O'Donel)

Obtaining goods under false pretence – Margaret Killeen Alias L'Estrange was brought up in custody of detective officers Harbison and Gannon charged by them under the following circumstances. It appeared from the evidence that on the 3rd inst. The prisoner who is a domestic servant presented an order to the firm Todd Burns and Co. Mary Street for goods to the amount of £5 18s which she ordered to be sent to Mrs L'Estrange of 29 Blessington Street. The order bore the lady's signature and appeared so genuine that the porter drove in the evening with the parcels, which were received by the accused. The porter was told by her that her mistress waited until the last moment to pay him for the parcels, and at length had to go to Kingstown but was to return at seven o'clock in the evening. When the porter went away the accused took a cab and absconded from the house without the knowledge of her mistress. On the following day she went to the establishment of Mr Pemberton 24 Mary Street and obtained two pairs of boots to fit herself stating it was at the order of the Rev Mr Collins of Blessington Street whose servant she represented herself to be. On yesterday the detectives succeeded in tracing the prisoner to 26 South Cumberland Street where they recovered the greater portion of the missing property. She was sent for trial to the City Sessions.
