Follett Street - Named after Charles FOLLETT, another of the early land-owners, with property from Follett Street to High Street, which he farmed for years, until it was sold in the great subdivision explosion of 1866. A son, John FOLLETT, had a shoemaking shop on the Follett Street Broadway corner, now occupied by McDonald Building

Signal Street = After Robert SIGNAL, the very first owner of land in Central Marton. He arrived in 1858 and farmed the area, but eventually sold parcels of land to Charles FOLLETT and Thomas and Richard MORRIS. All four subdivided their properties and sold sections to prospective settlers in 1866, forming the basis of the Township.

(Reference Marton public library 1988 publication Tales of the Rangitikei by Paul Melody page 141)

People have been living at Tutaenui since before 150. One of the earliest was Robert Signal, an 1858 arrival, who had subsequently sold some of his land to other settlers, Richard Morris and James Follett, and it was to these men that the land-seekers went with their request for land to set up a township.

Rangitikei Notes – Marton April 20 – It is gratifying to hear of some settlers in the back district who have not suffered through the late fires. Mr James Follett of the Otamakapua Block has had a very successful season. His burn was good and he had plenty of winter feed on his place. I hear he had purchased another farm adjoining if so he has a very complete little place of some 700 acres.

Personal - The death of Mr James Follett occurred suddenly at his home Holly View Crofton early yesterday morning aged 64 years. He had expressed the desire to visit Europe after the war. He had resided at Crofton for 60 years and was one of the earliest settlers in this district. He leaves a widow, four sons, three brothers (John, William and Charles Follett) and two sisters (Mrs M Marr and Mrs E H Humphrey) all of whom are well-known in the Rangitikei.

Passing of an old identity – Another old identity of the district has just passed away in the person of Mr Charles James Follett, farmer of Crofton. The deceased who was 64 years of age died rather suddenly at about three o'clock this morning. Last night he appeared to be in his usual state of health and before retiring he freely discussed the possibility of a trip to Europe after the war was over. At about three o'clock he had a bad heart attack and throwing the bedclothes back he died immediately. His demise will be learned with deep regret throughout the family being so well known. Deceased had resided at Crofton for sixty years and three brothers (John, William and Charles) and two sisters (Mrs M Marr and Mrs E H Humphrey) are left to mourn their loss.
