

REST HOMES and GERIATRIC HOSPITALS

In view of the fact that the elderly are often an invaluable source of vital family information it is appropriate to include possible alternatives [to their own homes] where elderly people can be contacted. Tracing people born upwards of 70 years ago can be very frustrating when attempts made by letter result in a 'gone not known at this address' when there is no listing in a telephone directory no trace on the electoral roll [of the district the person lived in] and no record of a death.

A rest home or hospital for the elderly could hold the key to an apparent disappearance of an older family member therefore it is always worth contacting management of a geriatric home or hospital to enquire if your elusive family member is in residence.

It is worth noting that elderly people who are residence in institutions enjoy visitors and are usually only too willing to share their knowledge and reminiscences about the past.

People in long term care are listed in the electoral roll of the area where the home or hospital is situated – not the area of their previous address.

In the Hutt Valley district there are many geriatric private hospitals and rest homes caring for elderly residents and some are combined into one complex. The lists are as follows:
