

BUTCHERS & BUTCHERY BUSINESSES

Slaughterhouse Licences

Slaughterhouse Road / Lane was once situated off the Main Road in central Upper Hutt. This was where the early butchers prepared meat for sale.

The butchers would apply for a slaughter-house license and a few details are recorded in Wellington newspapers and local Government records.

The first mention of a Slaughter House in Wellington was in 1842. In 1862 the local Wellington district newspapers mention details of the Slaughterhouse Act of 1862. A bill to amend the Slaughterhouse Act was passed in 1867 and later 1887.

Brothers George and James BROWN had on their Section No 119 (central Upper Hutt) a meat-preserving and boiling-down plant with engines, boilers and vats that they leased to the butcher Arthur RICHARDSON in 1883.

Comment – Today the slaughterhouse would be situated across from the Dairy at 70 Pine Avenue. This information came from a former resident who grew up in number 70. Apparent when they dug for the foundations of the house they came across many animal bones.

Mr Brown in conversation told a representative of the “Leader” that when he knew Pine Avenue first it was called “Slaughter House Road”, and there were no pines growing then in the street.

(Reference Upper Hutt City Library Heritage collection Recollect website Upper Hutt Leader 25 July 1957 volume XIV No 28)

He says that this street was originally named slaughterhouse Road because it had the district slaughterhouse in it in a spot approximately opposite the present small store. A Mrs Ludwig subsequently bought Mr Brown’s house and her husband who was a watchmaker strongly objected to the name Slaughter-house Road and applied to the County to have the name changed. They agreed to the change renaming the street Pine Avenue after the pine trees which formed such a pleasant avenue. Butchers who use the district slaughterhouse were Mr W Keys and Mr Roly Butler. Earlier butchers were a Mr Till and a Mr Eastcott.

(Reference Upper Hutt City Library Heritage collection Recollect website Upper Hutt Leader 07 May 1964 volume XXI No 17)

It was Arthur and Adeline Teresa LUDWIG who resided in Slaughter House Road and requested the name change to Pine Avenue.

There was a Slaughterhouse in Russell’s Road and the license was held by Royce Aylmere BRANT.

Some of the early butchers in the Upper Hutt district were Mr Till and Mr Eastcott. Others were;

1858 Charles Mabey & George Allen Silver	1872 Thomas Croom Mabey
1874 James Bayliss & Andrew Brown & George Brown & Thomas Mabey
1877 Arthur May Richardson	1880 Henry Freeman
1880 Thomas Harper	1880 William Avery
1880 Alfred Keys junior	1887 Roland Butler
1891 James Wiseman	1897 William Richard Keys

Butchers chopping blocks

The butcher's chopping blocks were made from white pine. Bakers also used white pine for their needling boards. White Pine is less likely to harbour water and bacteria. The best chopping board are made from hardwood.

Parsley

Most butchers would grow their own parsley for the shop as it kept away the blow flies. Some local gardeners also grew parsley for the shops.

Meat night delivery

The butcher shops in the Upper Hutt district had chilliers around the back of the shops. During the night trucks would arrive and load the meat carcasses into the chillers. In the morning the butchers would make an early start on processing the meat ready for their customers when the shop opened at 9am.

Closure of butcher shops due to Supermarkets

Around 1976 the butcher shops slowly began to close their businesses due to customer shopping at the Supermarkets. The Gear Meat Company on the corner of Miro and Ward Streets would process around 200 ewes on a Sunday night for the Woolworths Supermarket. Folk lore records that when the contract for processing the ewes expired the Company did not renew the contract resulting in the butcher shops closure.

Baileys Butchery

(Reference Upper Hutt City Library Heritage collection recollect website Main Street 1988 Bailey P3-6-236)

Bailey's Butchery business moved from 107 Main Street to 733 Fergusson Drive at the end of December 1990.

Bailey's Butchery later moved from 733 Fergusson Drive to the former Export Meat Warehouse in Geange Street.

Comments from people - Maurice and Steve Bailey occupied the shop on Main Street central Upper Hutt. Years later the building was occupied by the Archibald Art studio and shop opposite from the CBD Tower. Maurice and Steve Bailey moved from the Main Street shop and relocated their butchery business to the Broadway shops.

Comments from People - Steve Bailey moved from Broadway shopping centre and occupied the building in (formerly Station Street) Geange Street. This building was later occupied by Export Meat. Steve Bailey departed Upper Hutt and settled to Martinborough in the Wairarapa.

Mr EASTCOTT

He says that this street was originally named slaughterhouse Road because it had the district slaughterhouse in it in a spot approximately opposite the present small store. A Mrs Ludwig subsequently bought Mr Brown's house and her husband who was a watchmaker strongly objected to the name Slaughter-house Road and applied to the County to have the name changed. They agreed to the change renaming the street Pine Avenue after the pine trees which formed such a pleasant avenue. Butchers who use the district slaughterhouse were Mr W Keys and Mr Roly Butler. Earlier butchers were a Mr Till and a Mr Eastcott.

(Reference Upper Hutt City Library website A & W Keys butchery Murray Maxwell collection ATL1/2110381-F)

Ken Geange on a horse drawn wagon outside A & W Keys butchery Main Street Upper Hutt. The wagon has a load of wool bales. A & W Keys had opened their business in the then new premises on Monday 31 July 1911. In early 1919 they leased the butchery business to A F Hook. This photograph probably dates from soon after the butchery opened as the Benge and Pratt building destroyed in a fire and explosion on 28/29 March 1914 can be seen beyond the Provincial Hotel and next to Hazelwood's building. The image has almost certainly been copied from the publication Upper Hutt Reflections From The Past (Kenneally 1980) in which the wagon driver is identified as Ken Geange. The source of that image is attributed to the McCarthy Album and the date is cited (incorrectly) as circa 1919-1920. This photograph is held in the Alexander Turnbull Library Collection catalogue no 1/2-110381-F. (Caption information: Brian Pearce). Date taken ca. 1911-1914

Local and General – I have worked hard both night and day and have met with nothing but bad luck said the bankrupt Alfred H Southee in his written statement submitted to the Official Assignee. Southee was a wood cutter and labourer residing at the Upper Hutt and he attributes his bankruptcy to the dullness in the wood trade while he charges certain people concerned in his work with dishonesty towards him. His assets are nil and his total debts £75 16s 4d. The chief creditors are J Bowyer £15, Wilkie Bros Estate assigned to Turnbull & Laing £12 22 7d, A & W KEYS £11 5s 6d, A Keys £10 5s, G Southee senior £9 3s.

Kiwi Butchery

Kiwi butchery was named after the ship “Kiwi” that brought Service Personnel returning from overseas. Sergeant Royce Aylmer Brant 599743 (occupation slaughter-man) served in World War Two. Royce Aylmer BRANT worked for Thomas SLINN and also Billy (perhaps William Richard) KEYS then as a slaughter-man working at Russells Road (circa 1936 slaughter house)

Before 1946 the Kiwi Butchery was once situated east side on the corner Princes Street and Main Street Upper Hutt. In 1954 it was relocated to new building on Main Street next to the former Taylor’s Shoe Store.

There is a (1948) photo of the early Kiwi Butcher shop once situated on the corner Main Street and Princes Street (north-east) on the Upper Hutt City Library Heritage collection Recollect website. Their phone number was 240S.

Mad Butcher The

The Mad Butcher is situated at 1098 Fergusson Drive Clouston Park district Upper Hutt.

Sir Peter Charles Leitch also known as the Mad Butcher founded a chain of butcheries in 1971 in Auckland.

It is not known when the Mad Butcher shop was opened in the Upper Hutt district.

In 2024 details of the business are Mad Butcher 1098 Fergusson Drive Clouston Park Upper Hutt 5018 phone 04 526 4581.

Maidstone Butchery Ltd

Before 1966 the Maidstone Butchery Limited was situated next to the Majestic building on Main Street Upper Hutt.

Around 1970 the Maidstone Butchery Limited relocated to the Maidstone Mall at 51 Main Road in central Upper Hutt.

The 1970 Universal Business Directory records Maidstone Butchery Ltd 51 Main Road Upper Hutt.

Maidstone Mall Butchery

Around 1970 the Maidstone Butchery Limited relocated to the Maidstone Mall at 51 Main Road in central Upper Hutt.

The 1970 Universal Business Directory records Maidstone Butchery Ltd 51 Main Road Upper Hutt.

The Maidstone butchery was once part of the Gear Meat Company Limited which was taken over by the Hallaby Company Limited.

Around 1971 Kenneth (Ken) WORKMAN and Denis Edward KEY who had been working for the Gear Meat Company in the Mall, purchased the business from Hallaby Company Limited.

The butcher shop had a staff of around 7-8 and at one time they employed 3 women butchers.

The partners Kenneth (Ken) WORKMAN and Denis Edward KEY sold the business around 1992 to a young man. He operated the business for another 6 months then closed the shop.

North End Butchery

Howse Butcheries Limited

Before 1956 the North End Butcher shop also known as Howse Butcheries was situated in the Queens Chambers on Main Street Upper Hutt opposite Maidstone Mall.

The 1970 Universal Business Directory records North End Butchery Ltd 23 Main Road Upper Hutt.

Comment - For additional information please refer to the Howse Butcheries section in this document.

I was informed that Chris HEWETT worked at the North End Butchery when it was situated in the Queens Chambers. The North End Butchery was later relocated to 9 Geange Street in January 1992. The shop was situated between Station Street and Princes Street.

Comment – was the former North End Butchery shop renamed when it relocated to 9 Geange Street?

Upper Hutt Butchery Business - Walter James KEYS butcher Upper Hutt was appealed for by his father by whom he was employed. Appellant was married in October 1915 and had a child four month's old. He had two brothers one of whom 'was; going away with the 23rd Reinforcements. The shop carried on by the KEYS was the only one in the Upper Hutt district. While any of the other's engaged in the business could be replaced the business would have to be closed down if appellant was taken. He was the only one of the family who could kill and the only one who could make small goods. Mr J S Barton who supported the appeal pressed the ground of public interests in addition to that of undue hardship. Alfred KEYS father of Walter James KEYS said that if the latter was ordered into camp he would close up the business. He would have no other alternative. The appeal was dismissed leave being granted until 3rd March.

Wood Bros Butchery

It is not known when this Wood Bros Butchery business was opened but it was situated in George Street Stokes Valley and not in Broadway shopping center on Main Street Upper Hutt. I have recorded firstly the George Street butcher followed by the Wood Broadway butchery business.

The 1970 Directory records George Street perhaps this is Stokes Valley and not in the Upper Hutt district.

In 1944 there was a Wood Bros Butchers in Cuba Street Wellington. Perhaps there is a connection with the Upper Hutt Company.
