Mr Henry Cassan Messiter was the foundation teacher at Whiteman’s Valley School.

Evening Post newspaper 31 July 1882

To The Editor – Sir In your report of the proceedings of the Education Board on Wednesday Mr Lee is reported to have said with regard to the appointment of a teacher to the Whiteman’s Valley school that it would give anyone the horrors to remain in the place for a month. Now sir I should like to know what right Mr Lee has to make such a damaging assertion. Does he think that after the settlers had contributed the site and nearly three-quarters of the timber for the erection of the school and school master’s residence and the building had been finished that his remarks coming from the Inspector of Schools would tend to the advancement of education or encouragement of the teacher? Some of the settlers have resided in the district for the last 15 years and what we felt as our greatest need was a school and now that our hopes are so near realised and a teacher to be appointed. Mr Lee kindly informs the Education Board that it would give anyone the horrors to remain in the place for a month. Surely we settlers would ere this have discovered some symptoms of this dreadful disorder or is it only a teacher who is liable to an attack? If so we would advise Mr Lee to furnish the teacher with a prescription to meet the case. I was led to think that part of the duties of a school inspector was to encourage education in outlying districts but looking at the utterances of Mr Lee I suppose I must have been mistaken. I am &c., A Settler Whiteman’s Valley 28th July.

First Whiteman's Valley School House built c1881. Accommodation was attached for the schoolteacher around 1928-1931. The school building burnt down between 1926 and 1935. Bill James on the night of the schoolhouse fire went round and released the dog that was tied up by the trees. Ivy Carr (teacher) wanted Bill to go in at the height of the fire to get her £60 that was in a jar. Bill replied that as the school was built in Rimu there was a lot of thick black smoke and it was too late to rescue the money. After the Cheese Factory was closed a temporary School was held in the vacant factory. Claude Swanson was one of the children who attended this school.

#A peculiar divorce case was heard by the Chief Justice this morning. Margaret Dunn formerly school mistress at Reefton sued for a divorce from Walter Essen Cross of Wellington on the grounds of the latter's bigamy. The evidence showed that he had been married in London in 1872 to a wife who is still alive and testified in Court. It further appeared that he had told Dunn when her married witness that he had another wife who died after his second marriage. #Motupiko [school] Mrs Fugle It was at one time in contemplation to close this school the daily attendance having dwindled down to six. The appointment of a new teacher about two months ago coupled with the threat of withdrawing all pecuniary assistance unless a change for the better took place speedily had the effect of more than doubling the attendance at once. It is to be hoped that under the present management this very backward and thinly attended school may yet take a respectable place among our smaller schools reference papers past website Nelson Examiner and New Zealand Chronicle newspaper 24 August 1870 page 3
#Motupiko (14 present) Mrs Fugle I regret that I can record no improvement here during the past year. In one respect indeed there is a decided falling off. The extraordinary drawl with which all the children (with one exception) read and which showed some symptom of abatement last year is more noticeable than ever. The writing is slovenly the spelling full of mistakes and three out of four of the easy sums that I set were brought up wrong.
