80 years of age. In his early years Mr Harrison was a member of the Royal New Zealand Artillery and was a follower of Rugby football in Rangitikei. He was for some time a prominent member of the Marton Fire Brigade, having won a New Zealand championship for ladder climbing at Christchurch. During this period he occupied the office of chairman of the Upper Hutt Town Board and was one of the founders of the Upper Hutt Bowling Club. He retired from business in 1922 and took up farming at Otumoetai, later taking up his residence in Tauranga. Gardening, boating and fishing engaged his attention and he enjoyed the best of health and spirits. He is survived by his wife and daughter, three sons; Jack, who after gaining his commission in the 2nd N.Z.E.F. overseas was wounded and being taken prisoner during the fighting in Crete, escaped and still remains missing; George, is now overseas with the New Zealand troops, and Sidney John, the General Secretary of the New Zealand Returned Services Association is at Wellington. #On Wednesday afternoon the 7th instant the Upper Valley and the Hutt were much disturbed by a somewhat violent and exciting scene which took place between a number of the Maories and white people the particulars of which are as near as we can gather them as follows - On the return of E Tako and about forty of his tribe on horseback from the feast at Wairarapa they all stopped opposite the house of Mr Harris at the Upper Valley where a niece of E Tako by marriage was residing under the care of her brother both of whom are half-castes named Mary and John Harrison. E Tako and several of his followers dismounting and going into the house insisted upon taking Mary Harrison his niece off with him the girl refused to go and he was opposed by all who were in the house at the time Mr Harris and the brother being away from home therefore but slight resistance could be offered to his purpose and in a short time the girl was taken by him out of the house and put upon a horse and rode off with. Her brother being at the Taita met them on his road home and as soon as he saw his sister took her from the horse but the number of his opponents being too great she was got away again and taken towards the Taita where her brother calling on four friends to assist him again succeeded in getting his sister and placed her in the house of Mr Buckridge for safety where E Tako followed when a scuffle ensued which soon gained the appearance of a very serious fight tomahawks, sticks and various other weapons were brought into use and during the fight E Tako and five or six of his followers lay grovelling upon the ground. Neither did the whites get off lightly receiving many blows and one a cut across the hand with a tomahawk. Unfortunately while the fight was progressing in the front of the house the girl was carried off again by being taken out at the back. When it was discovered that the girl was gone and the five whites seeing it useless to prolong the struggle against such heavy odds the fighting ceased. I hear steps have been taken at the magistrate's office respecting the breach of the peace which I have no doubt will be reported in your police intelligence reference Papers past website Nelson Examiner and New Zealand Chronicle newspaper 24 September 1859 page 2

#Hutt Affray - Hearing at this Hutt – 28th September 1859 before Henry St Hill Esq RM Viremu Tako v John Buckeridge, Walter Harris, John Harrison, and Henry Lewyn - A charge of unprovoked assault. This case first came into court on the 16th September Mr Brandon appearing for the complainant and Mr Ward for the defendants but in consequence of the non appearance of one of the latter it was adjourned after part hearing to the 23rd the Bar investigation of this case absorbed the attention of the Court for the whole of that day and at its close the Resident Magistrate stated that before arriving at a decision in a case of so important a nature and when the evidence was so conflicting he deemed it advisable to re-peruse the evidence and deliberately weigh the respective statements of the witnesses and for that purpose he would postpone his decision to the following Wednesday (28th) at the Hutt. Complainant (the Chief Wi Tako) deposed to the following facts - On the 7th of the month he was returning to the Hutt from the Wairarapa. When he reached Mr Harris's place in the Upper Hutt he observed a half caste girl named Mary Harrison standing near Harris's fence spreading clothes to dry. Mary Harrison is the daughter of complainant's late wife by a former husband (an Englishman) and complainant now holds the relation of guardian to her she is about 16 years of age and has been residing with complainant for many years she had been living at Harris's in the capacity of house maid for several weeks prior to this date. He rode up to her and saluted her in the usual terms. Mary Harrison told him she was uncomfortable in her present situation and wished to return home; he told her that she might please herself, she begged to be allowed to return at once he accordingly dismounted from his horse and accompanied her to the house to communicate the same to Mrs Harris. Mrs Harris and some other females endeavoured to prevent it and remonstrated with him for taking the girl away to which he replied that it was the girl's own wish to go and he was bound to protect her. She was mounted on a steed and rode away with Wi Tako and his party. When they reached his settlement of Ohara they remained there for a short time to take some refreshment. Wi Tako with the girl and a party of six men proceeded down the Hutt road leaving the remainder of the natives at Ohara. After riding a few miles they met John Harrison one of the defendant's (Mary Harrison's brother) with two other young men all on horseback. Harrison took hold of the bridle of his sister's horse and insisted on her going back with him but failing in this he turned his horse's head and rode along with the party so also did his two companions. Harrison accused Wi Tako of running off with his sister and appeared to be very angry they rode together for some miles when Harrison said something to his companions and they galloped off ahead of the party. The latter proceeded quietly down the road with Wi Tako at its head. When he came within sight of Buckeridge's road-side Inn he observed John Harrison and several other young men standing in the road with their coats off and sleeves turned up and apparently ready for a fight. He dismounted and walking up to the former he remonstrated with him for his folly. Mr Buckeridge senior beckoned to him and they entered the house together John Harrison accompanying them. He narrated the facts of the case to Mr Buckeridge who then went out and spoke to the girl he returned and stated that the girl refused to return to Harris's, insisting on proceeding home with Wi Tako. Harrison then went out and assisted by others pulled his sister off the horse and carrying her into the house entered by a side door. Wi Tako attempted to follow but was held back by some whites he afterwards entered but not finding her he turned to come out. When he reached the door he found that a fracas had commenced outside between the natives and whites. As he emerged from the door the defendants assailed him. Lewyn struck him on the shin with a stick and he fell to the ground. Harrison then came up and struck him a blow in the eye with his fist and Buckeridge Junior struck him on the lip with a piece of mud. Walter Harris struck him on the ribs. He remained insensible some time. When he came to himself the natives were all gone. He entered the house asked for a glass of water to drink and washed his bleeding face. Suddenly he heard a great noise outside. He rushed out and found that the natives had returned in a most excited state one armed with a hand the others with sticks and were breaking the windows of the house and doing other violence. He saw that bloodshed was likely to ensue and seizing a stock whip he commenced to belabour them with it right and left at the same time assuring them that he was not hurt. Finding that he whose wrongs they were avenging was flogging them unmercifully they soon desisted and departed in a body homewards,

Mary Harrison who had made her escape from the house accompanying them Complainant stated that he had received some very serious bruises on the face, ribs and shins, and still suffered considerable pain from them. He then called several witnesses Natives and Europeans to corroborate his statements after which several Europeans appeared for the defence who contradicted some parts and qualified others of complainants evidence. On the 23rd of September at the Hutt Court (as above stated) the Resident Magistrate having commented on the case speaking in the highest terms of Wi Tako's discreet conduct on the occasion of this affray and expressing his conviction that had he encouraged the infuriated Natives in their purpose great mischief if not bloodshed would have ensued - expressed his opinion that whatever palliation there may have been for the defendant Harrison (who conceived that complainant was taking away his sister without her consent) there was none for the other three defendants. John Harrison fined ten shillings, John Buckeridge, Walter Harris, and Henry Lewyn fined 40s each and costs £2 6s 6d reference Papers past website Wellington Independent newspaper 11 October 1859 page 3

Enquiry below perhaps linked to HARRISON family tree

Comment – A researcher in England contacted me asking if I had done any earlier research regarding the Harrison family.

- The researcher was interested in Job Harrison's aunt and uncle James Te Hana HARRISON [1845 or 1847 - 1926] and Julia Turai Wahari HARRISON [nee Wallace] [1852-1910].
- The NZ poet Jacquie STURM [1927-2009] [born Te Kare PAPUNI; adopted as child and name changed to Jacquie Cecilia STURM; married James K Baxter so also known as Jacquie BAXTER].
- Her mother was Mary Kingsley PAPUNI [nee HARRISON] [1907-1927] and her father was Takaparae John Raymond [Jack] PAPUNI [1904- ]

- Jacquie Sturm's maternal grandfather is reportedly a nephew of English author Charles KINGSLEY [who wrote The Water Babies] named Te Whare Matangi HARRISON.
- Who this nephew of Charles KINGSLEY is and how he is linked to Jacquie Sturm.
- Charles KINGSLEY'S brother Dr George Henry KINGSLEY [1826-1892] did spend three years in the South Pacific, including multiple visits to NZ 1967-1970. On this journey he accompanied English aristocrat Lord Pembroke and their experiences during this time are well documented in a book called 'South Sea Bubbles'.
- It is not know who Mary Kingsley PAPUNI's [nee HARRISON] father is [i.e. the supposed nephew of Charles KINGSLEY], but her grandmother is Julia Turia Wahari HARRISON [nee WALLACE] as mentioned above.
- Trying to find the link between HARRISON and KINGSLEY but I just can't find it, though it is odd that the name Kingsley suddenly appears in the name of Mary Kingsley HARRISON.
- The tombstones of Mary Kingsley PAPUNI [1907-1927] and her grandmother Julia HARRISON reads 'Sacred to the Memory of Julia Harrison, died 10th September 1910 aged 58 years'.
