(Reference RGO NZ death registration 1898 folio website 1898/466 age 75 born circa 1823)

William George HAYBITTLE was buried at St John's Anglican Church cemetery Trentham.

Evening Post newspaper 14 February 1898

On Saturday died at Trentham near Upper Hutt a well-known settler of that place Mr Wm G Haybittle. The deceased arrived in New Zealand in 1848 and after whaling near Kaikoura for some time, settled in Wellington. He and his brother Mr R B Haybittle became lightermen before the building of the Queen's Wharf. Ultimately he settled at Trentham. He was 76 years of age and a widow and grown-up family survived him. Mr F W Haybittle of George Thomas & CO was a nephew of the deceased. The late Mr Haybittle was widely and deservedly respected.

#Obituary - The death occurred at Lower Hutt on Monday of Mrs Emma Anne Cotter relict of the late Thomas Cotter of Silverstream one of the few surviving pioneers of the Upper Hutt Valley. The eldest daughter of the late William George Haybittle of Wellington who came to New Zealand in 1842, deceased was born in Cuba Street, but spent most of her life in

Silverstream on the Cotter Estate, which was recently purchased as a prospective site for the new St Patrick's College. Mrs Cotter was long associated with St John's Church at Trentham and assisted towards its renovation at the time of its jubilee of dedication and was buried in its churchyard among her numerous relatives and family connections yesterday by the Rev. Kendrick. Two daughters (Mrs W M Cleland of Otaki and Mrs N J Bennington of Lower Hutt) survive her, also a brother (Mr Ralph Haybittle of Hawera) and sisters (Mrs W Kitchen of Carterton, Mrs Charles Seagar of Silverstream, and Mrs Donald Reid of Palmerston North). Their mother (nee Emma Gooding) was also an early Wellington pioneer reference Papers past website Hutt News newspaper 18 July 1929 page 7

#An innkeeper's worries travellers complaints state food refused them police prosecution information dismissed - The Magistrate was engaged for several hours yesterday in hearing the case. Police v John Thomas Hodder licensee of the Upokorgaio Hotel a charge of an alleged breach of the Licensing Act that defendant, "being an Innkeeper did refuse without valid reason to supply a meal to a traveller - to wit, Patrick Pullen contrary to the form of statute in such case made and provided. Senior Sergeant Bourke prosecuted and Mr Cohen appeared for the defendant, who pleaded "Not guilty." After outlining the circumstances the police called Patrick Pullen who deposed that he was a bushman who had been employed at O'Neil's bush at Parihauhau 20 miles from Wanganui. On the morning of the 22ne September witness and a mate, James Blythe left camp about 6.30 each carrying a heavy swag. Before leaving they partook of a light breakfast. They "humped their bluey" for about six miles. When they reached the road it was getting late. They met a carter named Hatcher, and arranged with him to convey them to Wanganui. At about 11 20 p.m. they reached the Upokongaro Hotel the place was in darkness. Hatcher knocked at the door, and on Mrs Hodder coming to an upstairs window, he asked for a drink. Mrs Hodder replied that it was after 10 o'clock. Hatcher went on to say that he had two Bushmen with him who had had nothing to eat since early morning. Mrs Hodder replied that she could not help it. Witness then asked for some biscuits or for something to take along with them. Mrs Hodder replied by leaving the window. He had £60 in hard cash on him at the time and would have given £5 for a meal. James Blythe gave corroborative evidence, and was followed by William Watcher, driver, who when relating the experience at the hotel, said that after Mrs Hodder left the window he waited expecting her to come downstairs to attend to them. After three, or four minutes he said, to the others it is of no use waiting here. You will get nothing. I will, knock you up a feed when we get to Wanganui East. They then came on to town, and stopped at witness place. Mr Cohen cross examined witness at length. Charlotte Elizabeth Hodder wife of the proprietor of the Upokongaro Hotel gave evidence for the defence. She remembered the night in question. Things were quiet that day and at about 10.00 p.m. a man named Hatcher came up in a cart. He asked if he could get a drink. Witness replied that it was past 10 o'clock. He said that he had two Bushmen with him and that they had been on the road since early in the morning. Hatcher said he had been hurrying to catch the hotel open. Witness then left the window. No one else spoke to her and no one asked for bread or biscuits. Had the men asked her for something to eat witness would have given it to them. She was positive Hatcher alone spoke and that he only asked for drink. The defendant said he was in bed when Hatcher drove up in the dray and asked for drink. Witness bore out his wife's evidence. The Magistrate, summing up said the evidence was very conflicting. Mrs Hodder might have been genuinely mistaken what the men had asked for. The weakness of the whole case lay in the admissions Hatcher made. It seemed to him that his evidence substantially corroborated Mrs Hodder. The case was dismissed reference National Library of NZ papers past website Wanganui Chronicle newspaper 01 October 1914 page 8

#Stanley Jack/Carlyle Haybittle lived with Wilhelminia and Charles SEAGAR at Silverstream (for a period when his mother Maud was ill) and travelled by train into Wellington to attend Bank college. His cousin Eric William Haybittle also lived there when he attended Wellington College. One of the vessels that Charles Seagar owned was the 'Tui' which foundered and sank at the entrance of Wellington Harbour. (I think it was Pencarrow) He salvaged the signalling cannon and had it on his front lawn and fired it off at Christmas. On his death it remained at the house and Wilhelmina gifted it to Stanley Jack Haybittle prior her death. A new rosewood carriage was made for it and is still a treasured family heirloom held by a descendant reference family story from a private living Haybittle descendant

Sherwood House & Pumpkin Cottage - Silverstream

Sherwood House Silverstream

Charles SEAGAR owned and resided in "Sherwood" house and farmed the land with his first wife Frances Emily. Francis died 11 August 1909 at Silverstream and was buried at St John's Churchyard Trentham Upper Hutt.

Two years later in 1911 Charles married Wilhelmina HAYBITTLE the daughter of his best friend William George HAYBITTLE. There were no children to either marriage. Charles SEAGAR died in 1918 and Wilhelmina continued to live at "Sherwood". Some of Wilhelmina's Haybittle relatives lived in the house with her and others were married and died at "Sherwood".

Note - there is a photograph of "Sherwood" house in the publication "Stories from the Grave - St John's Church Trentham" compiled by John Harrison.

Sherwood was situated on the site of the old Silverstream Hospital on Section 81 that was originally owned by Robert Wyeth who was the proprietor of the Barley Mow Inn. Sherwood house was burnt down in 1950/1960s as a training exercise for the fire brigade.

Pumpkin Cottage Silverstream

There are different stories circa Pumpkin Cottage and how it was named.

A publication gave us this story about the cottage

"Nairn first rented the Pumpkin cottage in about 1895 near the train line at Silverstream. The building was unremarkable in itself a two room pitched roof cottage with veranda, built of local matai. Ngati Tama chief Te Kaeaea stayed there when he visited the nearby Whirinaki Pa from the 1850s. Pumpkin cottage was moved further up Hutt Main Road to its present site sometime after Te Kaeaea's death in 1875".

NOTE - Chief Te Kaeaea also known as Taringa Kuri died on 05 October 1871.

Further stories question the naming of the cottage.

"Nairn got a small [pumpkin] tied it to the end of a small stick which he stuck under the gable roof & painted on the wall beneath the legend "Ye signe of ye golden pumpkins". Later the pumpkin fell away & he made a yellow drawing in place of it on the gable" reference source Maurice Crompton-Smith to Stanley Edwards 1939.

Another local Upper Hutt history records how the cottage got its name.

"Pumpkin cottage name came about due to a signal devised by the sons of Charles and Emma HAYBITTLE, who farmed the land and lived just behind the cottage. When young Ralph HAYBITTLE wanted to let his brother know he should get off the train at Silverstream to help milk the cows, he would hoist a pumpkin onto the cottage's chimney".

NOTE - William George and Emma HAYBITTLE resided in the Wallaceville/Trentham area. The cottage was situated on Charles SEAGAR farming property in Silverstream. It is clear that the two great friends had their Christian and surnames mixed up.

Charles SEAGAR's wife died in 1909 and in the same year when William's daughter Claire HAYBITTLE died the funeral left the residence of Charles Seagar of Silverstream. Charles married William's daughter Wilhelmina Haybittle in 1911.

Another source stated it was Thomas COTTER owned the land with the cottage and placed the pumpkin on the chimney. When Thomas's wife died he married (1879) Emma HAYBITTLE the daughter of William and Emma HAYBITTLE.

The descendants of Thomas Cotter state that he built the cottage and I believe this statement is correct.

Ralph HAYBITTLE was the brother of both Wilhelmina Seagar nee Haybittle and Emma Cotter nee Haybittle. I believe Ralph resided in Pumpkin cottage and farmed the land but for which brother –in-law Charles SEAGAR or Thomas COTTER

By researching the land documents and creating a time line ownership of the property along with additional research then perhaps it will reveal additional stories about Pumpkin cottage.
