Some three or four years after his marriage Mr Craig went to the Otago Goldfields with his wife's brother (Mr Hodgson). In 1867 the two mates left the diggings for Dunedin and were caught in a violent snowstorm and were missing for some time. When the bodies were discovered it was found the two men had camped out and perished in the snow. Their remains were interred in Otago. [The step brother was actually Thomas Skinner]

A Melancholy occurrence at the Nokomai - Three lives lost in a snow-storm - We received the following sad intelligence from a correspondent at the Nokoinai, writing under date the 5th inst: - Three more men in the pride of health and strength have fallen victims to the hard climate and heavy travelling of Otago. On Monday, the 20th of August, a party of miners named Charles Durant, Craig, and Skinner, left Switzer's to return to the Nokomai, from which place they had been absent some little time. Intending to reach the Nokomai that night they provided themselves with no food except enough for a mid-day meal, and though the track over the Dome is difficult and dangerous no fears were entertained for them by their mates at Switzer's. On Monday, the 3rd inst; George Moffat arrived at the Nokomai, and having a message to deliver to one of the unfortunate men inquired if they were at home. On hearing that they had not been seen, he expressed his apprehension of their being lost, and the sad news was quickly spread. A search party was gathered immediately and started yesterday, the 4th, to ascertain where they had perished, for no hopes were entertained of finding them alive. The fog prevented their seeing anything until this morning (5th), when the body of Charles Durant was found on the top of the East Dome. He had evidently thrown away his swag, which was picked up about a mile from the body, and then boldly and bravely fought his way against the blinding snow up the steep mountain path, beyond which lay the home where his wife and children were waiting his return but his strength and courage were unavailing - he fell beside a tuft of grass, where his sorrowing friends found him in his last long sleep. The other two are not yet discovered, but are supposed to have fallen sooner, and the Warden proceeds to the Dome to-morrow to hold the inquest. Craig was also married, and leaves three children, and the families are both almost unprovided for. Such sad tragedies as these are enough to make those who sit beside warm hearths with their dear ones round them remember gratefully the blessings preserved to them, and pray fervently for all who travel by land or water to Him who alone can succour the wanderers in their time of need. [The latest news states that another body has been found.]

Perished In The Snow - We take the following sad account of the loss of three men in the Dome Ranges from the "Wakatip Mail" of the 12th instant - Three men in the pride of health and strength have fallen victims to the hard climate and heavy travelling of Otago. On Monday, the 20th of August, a party of miners named Charles Durant, Craig, and Skinner, left Switzer's to return to Nokomai, from which place they had been absent some little time. Intending to reach the Nokomai that night they provided themselves with no food except enough for a mid-day meal, and though the track over the Dome is difficult and dangerous no fears were entertained for them by their mates at Switzer's. On Monday, the 3rd inst., George Moffat arrived at the Nokomai, and, having a message to deliver to the unfortunate men, inquired if they were at home. On hearing that they had not been seen, he expressed his apprehension of their being lost, and the sad news was quickly spread. A search party was gathered immediately and started yesterday (the 4th) to ascertain where they had perished, for no hopes were entertained of finding them alive. The fog prevented their seeing anything until this morning (5th), when the body of Charles Durant was found on the top of the East Dome. He had evidently thrown away his swag, which was picked up about a mile from the body, and then boldly and bravely fought his way against the blinding snow up the steep mountain path beyond which lay the home where his wife and children were waiting his return but his strength and courage were unavailing he fell beside a tuft of grass, where his sorrowing friends found him in his last long sleep. The other two are not yet discovered, but are supposed to have fallen sooner, and the Warden proceeds to the Dome tomorrow to hold the inquest Craig was also married, and leaves three children, and the families are both almost un-provided for. Such sad tragedies as these are enough to make those who sit beside warm hearths with their dear ones round them remember gratefully the blessings preserved to them, and pray fervently for all who travel by land or water to Him who alone can succour the wanderer in their time of need. Immediately upon these facts becoming known Mr Inspector Percy proceeded to the spot. All the bodies were found near one another, and were all following on the right track, but the sudden snowstorm must have been a very severe one. An inquest has been held, and a verdict in accordance with the evidence returned. A subscription list has been started for the widows and families of the deceased men, and is being well filled.

Three Men Perished in a Snow Storm - From a gentleman who arrived from the Lake District, we learn that three men who sometime since left the Nokomai to prospect in the direction of Switzer's, not having been heard of for some time, a feeling of anxiety as to their fate was evinced by their friends, and a party was organised to follow their track, in order to ascertain their fate. After much exertion and perseverance, the searchers found the bodies of all three at the Dome. It would appear that they had been overtaken by a snow storm, and evidently perished from cold, their swags containing ample provisions for their creature wants. We understood that two were married men, their wives and families residing at Nokomai. The names of the men are given as Charles Durrant, John Craig, and Thomas Skinner. Three Men Frozen to Death - We learn from the Invercargill Daily News that three miners who left Switzer's on Monday, the 20th ult., to return to their homes in the Nokomai, had perished in the snow. The bodies were found by a search party. Our contemporary, in speaking of the men, says Mr Durant - who was by far the strongest man seems to have struggled on after his mates had given up. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. He was an Englishman but had been a long time a resident of these colonies, and for some time, a resident of Invercargill. Wm. [sic] Craig was a Scotchman by birth, but called Wellington his home. He leaves a wife (who is near her confinement) and one child. Thomas Skinner was a Scotchman, but called Wellington his home. He was single, and a brother of Mrs Craig. Great sympathy is felt for the wives and children of these unfortunate men.

Hutt Valley Independent newspaper 02 November 1912

Obituary – Elizabeth Kelly - On Sunday last at 3.30 am there passed away at Upper Hutt Mrs Elizabeth Kelly at the age of 72 years. The deceased lady was born at Durham England on 05 June 1840 and came out to New Zealand on the first trip of the "Oliver Lang" in 1855 with her father, Mr Henry Hodgson, her mother and her brother - she herself being 15 years of age at the time. It may be here mentioned that the second trip of the "Oliver Lang" ended in her going ashore at Kaiwharawhara in a sou'easter of similar violence to that of Saturday last. Shortly after their arrival the Hodgson family settled at Trentham where Mr Hodgson who was a blacksmith by trade established the first smithy at Trentham close to where the Trentham [Quinn's Post] Hotel now stands. He continued in business for several years until his death when he was buried at St John's Trentham. His widow and her daughter (the late Mrs Kelly) lived together for a number of years until the former died and was laid to rest alongside her husband. In 1863 Miss Hodgson was married to John Craig of Wellington by whom she had issue a son John T Craig who married Mary fifth daughter of Charles Cudby, and a daughter Mary who married William second son of the late Alexander Martin senior. Some three or four years after his marriage Mr Craig went to the Otago Goldfields with his wife's brother (Mr Hodgson). In 1867 the two mates left the diggings for Dunedin and were caught in a violent snowstorm and were missing for some time. When the bodies were discovered it was found the two men had camped out and perished in the snow. Their remains were interred in Otago. Mrs Craig and her children lived with her parents until 1869 when she married the late John Kelly a steady industrious man employed by the Barton family. Mr Kelly saved sufficient money to purchase fifty acres of land extending from the main road to the Hutt river, on which he and his wife carried on dairy operations until his death. Mr Kelly fell heavily on a big tree he was passing over at Akatarawa sustaining serious injuries to his side. A few months later in 1883 he succumbed and was buried at St Joseph's Upper Hutt. Mrs Kelly continued to work the farm until 1892 when she rented it to her son Mr J T Craig and retired into private life. The holding is valued at £4,800. Mrs Kelly and her two cronies who have predeceased her, Mrs G Brown senior and Mrs Greenwood senior, were familiar figures in the central portion of the township. On fine days the "three young maids" as they were affectionately termed by younger matrons (probably because their combined ages totalled some 225 years) might be seen, clad in ample skirts and with heads ensconced in cotton sun-bonnets with deep curtains, discussing the newest baby of one or other of their numerous marriage connections, or calling to mind pleasant or thrilling incidents of the old times when they and the Upper Hutt settlement were young together. For some sixteen years past the deceased lady has not been in the best of health and her death is ascribed to heart failure. The funeral which was largely attended by friends and relatives from far and near took place at St Joseph's Upper Hutt on Wednesday morning, Father L J Daly conducting the service. Deceased was laid to rest alongside the late John Kelly.

#Three Men Frozen to Death - We learn from the Invercargill Daily News that three miners who left Switzer's on Monday, the 20th ult., to return to their homes in the Nokomai, had perished in the snow. The bodies were found by a search party. Our contemporary, in speaking of the men, says Mr Durant - who was by far the strongest man seems to have struggled on after his mates had given up. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. He was an Englishman but had been a long time a resident of these colonies, and for some time, a resident of Invercargill. Wm. [sic] Craig was a Scotchman by birth, but called Wellington his home. He leaves a wife (who is near her confinement) and one child. Thomas Skinner was a Scotchman, but called Wellington his home. He was single, and a brother of Mrs Craig. Great sympathy is felt for the wives and children of these unfortunate men reference Papers past website Taranaki Herald newspaper 06 October 1866 page 3
