Ann SCHOLES nee BROMERLEY died 1855 Bury Lancaster England. Not sure if correct.

(Reference Ancestry website RGO UK death registration 1855 December quarter Bury Lancashire England volume 8c page 257)

Scholes SCHOLES (I) married twice his first wife Betty (nee LOMAX) whom he married 19 November 1797 at St Mary's Bury died at Black Lane aged only 39 and was buried at St Anne's Tottington 30 December 1815, leaving him with a son Scholes SCHOLES (II) who was only two years old. He was married again to Ann BROMERLEY less than five months after his first wife was buried this was the normal practice when there were small children to be cared for. He himself died aged 43 only five years after this second marriage and it's described as "formerly of Black Lane". This left Scholes SCHOLES (II) doubly orphaned. Scholes SCHOLES (I) described himself as a weaver and whitelimer. On 06 December 1819 there was the burial at St Anne's Tottington of "Sarah, daughter of Scholes SCHOLES of Harwood aged 13 years" the only record of a christening which seems to correspond is 11 January 1807 at St Anne's of "Sally born 21 December 1806 daughter of Scholes and Betty SCHOLES" but the reference to "of Harwood" (south of Affetside) cannot yet be explained. However the Allotment Apportionment of 29 June 1801 relating to the enclosure of Harwood Commons shows that a John SCHOLES was tenant at Heaton's not far from the southern end of Watling Street. There is no obvious candidate on the present family tree for this John SCHOLES. Scholes SCHOLES (I) had an elder brother John born in 1773 who married Mary LOMAX (when he was described as a weaver). In the 1841 Census he was a shopkeeper at Four Lane Ends but as he and his wife seem to have no children we have no idea where he lived before and so he may have been the tenant at Heaton's.
